accuracy. gton, March 25.—There was ainder of yesterday's proceedings use today when Mr. Boutelle, rein, of Maine, rising to personal exon, stated that the colloquy between and Mr. Wheeler, democrat, of a, regarding the attitude of exes toward the bill to retire Gen-Grant had been changed. He said him an injustice, for as printed it

Mr. explained that he changed the in order to correct a mistake in his sent, having been denied an opporton to make the correction in open house to course of the debate when he had vered it yesterday. The record was red corrected so as to accurately rewhat had occurred; ore this incident, Mr. Bartlett, demonstrated work New York as a matter of personal control of New York as a matter of personal control.

personal matters being out of the way, the house addressed itself, at 12:30 clock p. m., in committee of the whole, to the consideration of the naval appropriation bill. All of it, save the paragraph to the committee with a single amendment, appropriating $60,000 for building the cock. The only incident of interest in the discussion was the renewal of the old fight to transfer the naval observatory from the jurisdiction of the navy department, introduced by Mr. Cannon, republican, of Illinois. There was a rather warm exchange of sarcastic compliments between Mr. Cannon and Messrs. Boutelle and Robinson, republican, of Pennsylvania, on the subject, but nothing was done with the matter. SENATE'S ADJOURNMENT.

Platt Offers a Resolution Naming May.

Washington, March 25 .- A move in the ction of an early adjournment of concress was made in the senate today by Mr. Platt, republican, of Connecticut, who Dered a resolution to fix the time of final Mournment for the second of May next. In offering it Mr. Platt remarked that it was time to consider the subject. The ion took the usual course—a refer ence to the committee or appropriations. It will probably not be reported back until all the annual appropriation bills have passed both houses. After the legislative appropriations bill, which has been before the senate for the last three days, shall be disposed of there will be only two others. left for action by the senate. These are the Indian and the postoffice appropriation bills, neither of which is likely to occupy. sed of, there will be only two others more than one day. Nearly all the discussion today was on the subject of changing the fee system of United States district attracts. torneys and marshals to a salary system-the amounts proposed in the bill being assailed as extravagant by Senators Allen, populist, of Nebraska, and George, democrat, of Mississippi. In all cases, however, the propositions for the higher amounts were agreed to.

A joint resolution, to amend the constitution by prohibiting congress and state legislatures from using public moneys in aid of any institution controlled wholly or in part by any sectarian or religious association, was introduced by Mr. Gallinger, republican, of New Hampshire, and laid on the table for the present. The senate, at 5:35 o'clock, adjourned until tomorrow.

Colonel Bob Berner is also here. He has been spoken of as a candidate for congress from the sixth, but it is not probable that he will oppose Mr. Bartlett. lonel Bob Lowry, of Atlanta, spent today here among his friends.

invited to deliver the confederate memorial address in Augusta. Major Black is urging him to accept.

Mr. Fleming duBignon will reach here tomorrow. He and Judge Crisp will decide upon some dates for a joint debate. They may mest first at Griffin. The senate has increased the salary of the marshal of the southern district of Georgia to $3,000. Judge Lawson wants it known that there is a vacancy from the eighth congressional district at West Point and he wants young men in his district who would like the appointment to make themselves known. ARMS AND AMMUNITION.

Cubans at Jacksonville Ready To Ship War Supplies to Cuba.

Jacksonville, Fla, March 25.-It was exected that the steamer Three Friends would leave here last night with another cargo of arms and ammunition for the Cuban insurgents. The munitions were on board and everything in readiness, but at the last moment the Cubans charged their plans and the arms were unloaded from the steamer.

The dock of the Alabama Coal Company at the foot of Hogan street presented the appearance of a government arsenal, for there were thousands of cartridges and carbines and rifles and machetes by the nundreds. Knapsacks, canteens and other niltary equipment sufficient to fit out a small army were scattered about, but all of the articles were being checked off and watched by Cubans. The arms and ammunition were stored in the warehouse of the Alabama Coal Company, H. B. Fritot kept the account of the boxes and packages that were taken off the vessel; Charles J. Fritot superintended the storing of the articles in the warehouse and J. A. Huau appeared to be bossing the job.

The boxes of cartridges were marked "C. B.," and the cases of rifles "Knight & Wall, Tampa, care Savannah steamship and Plant system."

The Cuban gentlemen who are looking after the unloading and storing of the cargo of the steamer will not say why the arms are being taken off the steamer on the eve of her leaving for a trip to the south. Henry Fritot said that the cartridges were not good, and would be sent back to the factory to be reloaded. Mr. Huau said that they did not need the arms in Cuba just yet and that they would be kept here until the United States recognized the Cubans as belligerents. "When that is done," said he, "the arms and other military equipment will be sent to the Cuban

The machetes were largely in evidence. They were shipped in canvas sacks, each sack containing twenty-five. One of them was an old blade with a horn handle, through which a cord was fastened to go over the wrist. The blade was stained and looked as though it had been used considerably. The new machetes were made by Collins & Co., of Hartford, Conn. The unloading of the steamer was watched by one of the Spanish spies, and a few minutes after the work began the Spanish vice consul entered the government build-ing and called on several of the officials. The Spaniards appear to think that the government should seize the arms and th vessel that had them on board.

NOT AN OFFICIAL ASSAULT.

It Was Only Fay's Residence That the Spaniards Attacked.

Washington, March 25.—A private letter received in Washington from an American gentleman residing in Spain, who was at Valencia during the recent cutbreak against the action of the United States congress with regard to Cuba, says that it was the residence of Andrew H. Fay, of Illinois, United States consul to Denia, Spain, which was attacked by the Valencians and not the consular agency of the United States at Granoa, the port of Va-This government has no consular post at Valencia, but Mr. Fay found residence there preferable to Denia and changed it accordingly. He is still officially accredited to Denia, and transacts the slight business of that post from Valencia without

The letter says that the so-called attack on the consulate (which, by the way, is merely Mr. Fay's private residence and no more a public building of the United States government than is the residence in Washington of a government official, Mr. Fay, as stated, being officially resident at Denia), was merely a puerile performance on the part of some little schoolboys. They assembled in front of Mr. Fay's residence and shouted "Down with the States" and other similar terms. threw a stone and broke a window, but this threw a stone and broke a window, but this was the sum total of the damage. Mr. Fay and his wife, the letter says, witnessed the action of the boys from a window of their house and were not alarmed. At the state department yesterday a reporter was told that no report of the occurrence had been received from Mr. Fay. This indicates that he did not consider the matter of sufficient seriousness to call it to the attention of Secretary Olney.

DEFEATED THE SPANIARDS.

Rebels Gain a Fight in Santa Clara. Still Burning Houses.

Havana, March 25 .- During an attack by insurgents upon the city of Santa Clara the rebel leader, Leonclo Vidal, was killed. A detachment of government troops, posed of the San Quintin battalion. was attacked by a party of rebels under Fonseca near San Juan de los Yeras, in the Santa Clara province, and a hard fight ensued. The battle resulted in the defeat of the Spanish force, which lost many killed and wounded. It is admitted by Spaniards that in this engagement they lost one lieutenant and fifteen privates. The insurgents have burned the principal houses in Santa Ana, in the province of Matanzas, 150 houses in Rodriguez and a number of houses and Palma Sola and Yabucito, all in the province of Santa Clara.

West Side of Chicago the Scene of a Prolonged Sensation.

ELEPHANT KILLS A TRAINER

A Plucky Little Woman Fought It with a Pitchfork.

THEN IT WAS FED BREAD AND CAKE

Regular Trainer of the Elephant Is in Omaha—He Says Gypsy Is Really Empress.

Chicago, March 25.-W. H. Harris's big elephant, Gypsy, became unmanageable at its winter quarters, on the west side, this afternoon, and before she could be got under control, killed her keeper, tore down a frame building and created great excitement, which drew thousands of people to the scene.

Harris's circus is quartered at the corner of Roby and Jackson streets, in a six-story brick building, and Gypsy occuples the greater part of the first floor. Her regular keeper is Bernard. He is at present in Omaha, and the animal was temporarily in charge of Frank Scott, a lion tamer.

Early this afternoon Scott, by orders, took Gypsy out for a ride in the alley. Gypsy did not seem inclined to stop at the boundary of the alley and Scott gave her a jab with an iron hook. The beast be came enraged and throwing her keeper from her head, where he had been riding, proceeded to pound him with her trunk and succeeded in knocking him through a board fence.

A Fearless Woman, Mrs. Harris came to the rescue with a pitchfork. She was knocked down, but pluckily jumped up and commenced battle. She soon had blood streaming from wounds in the elephant's side and the beast ran away toward the end of the al-Here was standing a large crowd and many were the bruises received in the scattering which took place when the elephant started out of the alley.

Gypsy did not go far but went back for Scott, who in the meantime had been moved into a wooden building just opposite the elephant's quarters. The animal knocked in the whole side of the building in her efforts to get at the man again. Sent for Bread and Cake.

During this time Mrs. Harris had sent for all the bread and cake that could be ought in the neighborhood and also telephoned for Claude Orton, the horse trainer, who soon arrived. The elephant quieted lown somewhat, while she was eating fifty loaves of bread, a large number of cakes and other delicacies, which were placed before her.

After she had finished eating she walked into her barn and the heavy doors were shut after her. The door had no sooner been shut when the elephant with one blow shatered it and ran out again. By this time every street in the vicinity was crowded with excited people.

Police Were Powerless. Three wagon loads of police came to the rescue but could do nothing further than keep back the crowds. None of them wanted to undertake the job of chaining the enraged beast and it was impossible to kill her with their small caliber weapons. The elephant had her own way for about four hours, when she went back into her stall and allowed Orton to chain her. Harris has owned the animal for five years and has had no trouble with her

Frank Scott's right name is unknown He would never tell who he was and although he has been with Harris's circus for six years no one knows anything of him except that he went under an assumed name. His body is in the hands of an undertaker, and will be buried from the home of Mr. Harris.

Her Seventh Victim. Omaha, Neb., March 25.—Bernard, the former keeper of Gypsy, the elephant which created so much trouble in Chicago today, was seen tonight, and will take the first train for Chicago in the morning to assume his old position. In an interview he stated that Gypsy is only another name for Empress, the original old Empress the first elephant imported into this country, and that the killing of her late keener, Scott, makes the seventh victim of her vicious temper.

SIR JULIAN IS VALUABLE.

Report That He Would Go to London Is Not True.

Washington, March 25.—Momentary credence was given in England a day or two ago to a statement in The Birmingham Post that Sir Julian Pauncefote was going with Lord Salisbury because that journal is the home paper of Hon. Joseph Cham-berlain and is usually supposed to have an inspiration on colonial matters from the colonial secretary of the Salisbury If there is any truth in the report, however, the British ambassador here is totally unaware of it and those near him declare it to be absurd in view of the fact that just at this moment numerous important negotiations between Great Britain and the United States are progressing in a way that makes compulsory the presence of Sir Julian Pauncefote in Washington. Among these questions is the convention providing for a Behring sea claims com-mission which has been before the senate for ratification for over a month. In this connection an embarrassment has occurred from the fact that the senate in executive from the fact that the senate in executive session authorized changes in the conven-tion as agreed upon by Secretary Olney and Sir Julian Pauncefote, which, it is contended, embody an inaccurate version of quoted passages from the treaty of arbitration. Secretary Olney recently ap-peared before the committee on foreign relations and, it is understood, asked that Then there is the boundary convention for marking convenient points of the 141st meridian in Alaska, for which congress appropriated $75,000 in a joint resolution approved February 20, 1896, the understanding being that this work ought to be exceeded the earliest resulting the earliest of the controlled of the controlled of the earliest results are severally as the earlie hed at the earliest possible In addition to these matters there is the general arbitration treaty of which so much is heard and so little is definitely known and the Venezuelan limited arbitration which occupies the serious atten-tion of both governments. From none of these matters would it be possible for Lord Salisbury to withdraw Sir Julian even temporarily without injury to all the great in-terests affected, as not one of them is understood to have reached a stage where it may be left in charge of unfamiliar

BAYARD'S WEEKLY CHAT. TELLS THE ENGLISHMEN HOW MUCH WE RESEMBLE THEM.

He Quoted Tennyson and Insisted That Fear of Evil Consequences Would Not Suppress the Truth.

London, March 25 .- The anniversary din ner of the London General Pension Society was given last night. Among the guests was the Hon. Thomas F. Bayard, the American ambassador, who responded to the toast: "Our Kin Beyond the Sea." He remarked upon the strong family likeness of the kin beyond the seas to the likeness of the kin beyond the seas to the people of England. They were, he said, as like as two peas and they resembled each other in their patriotism and pluck. There was another similarity between them, namely, helping the poor and weak. He was inclined to believe that therein lay the strength of the English speaking system. Mr. Bayard dwelt upon the differences of opinion among his own counsystem. Mr. Bayard dwell upon the dif-ferences of opinion among his own coun-trymen and upon the value of individual opinion. He said that since he came to England he had never found occasion to change his tone and there was nothing he would say here that he would not say at home and vice versa. (Cheers.) He did not expect unanimity and would almost say God forbid it. A man must not be expected to speak in a tone that would suit everybody. He rejoiced that in the sys-tem of government that originated here and that had been carried beyond the Atlantic there was something that enabled a man to speak according to his own cona man to speak according to his own conscience. (Cheers.) There, too, lay the strength of both countries. When the time came when a man dare not speak thoughts swelling within him for the public good God help the country. He quoted Tennyson volcing this sentiment and said he believed the poet's words echoed as strongly in the country where he himself was born and where his best hopes lay as they did in Great Britain.
In conclusion Mr. Bayard said:

In conclusion Mr. Bayard said: "Herein lies that which shall keep both countries moving onward and upward in the cause of civilization, and we will never suppress the truth for fear of evil

DUTCH-AMERICAN SETTLEMENTS What "Errata the Venezuelan Blue Book" Says of Them.

London, March 25 .- A parliamentary pasued this afternoon entitled "Errata the Venezuela Blue Book." The first emendation of the text of the blue book is of the extract from the secret reports on the dominions of the king of Spain in America addressed to the Spanish government (page 5), which read: "It appears that the Dutch settlements in Guiana extend from close to the river Amazon and to the

This passage is amended to read: "It appears that the Dutch settlements in Guiana already extended from close to the river Amazon at least as far as the Pomeroun. The "Errata" withdraws the version of centurion's report in 1770 (page 14 of the blue book) and substitutes another affirming that the report sent home by the centurion inclosed declarations by the prefect and three members of the Spanish missions to the effect that the Spaniards missions to the effect that the Spaniards had not then and never had any fort on the Cuyuni. What the Dutch believed were two forts in that neighborhood were villages belonging to the missions on the northern bank of the Yuruari. The paper quotes parts of these declarations from the Audiencia de Caracas, together with letters and reports written in the year 1778. September.

Pine Bluff, Ark., March 25.-Josh Seaman and his son, Isaac Seaman, are at the point of death at Walnut Lake, Ark., fortyfive miles south of here, due to gunsho wounds, and Isaac Bankston, who began the shooting is also badly injured as the result of a battle which was fought at that village last Saturday.

The elder Seaman was shot in his right side and through the lung and his son received a bullet through the right knee. Blood poison has already complicated the case of the latter and neither is expected to live. The cause of the tragedy dates back eight months.

On the night of July 4th Miss Sadie Seaman, the daughter and sister of the dying men, who had been receiving attentions from Isaac Bankston, returned late from an entertainment which had been given at the house of a neighbor. The young woman went to her room to retire and soon after she entered Bankston came out of a closet in which he had been concealed. Miss Sea man screamed and Bankston ran down stairs. The parents of the girl, attracted by the outcry, saw Bankston hurriedly leave the house with a pistol in his hand. He made his escape and was not heard of until last September, when he surrendered to the authorities and was indicted for attempted burglary, assault with intent to kill and attempted criminal assault.

The feud between the families and friends of Seaman and Bankston has been kept up ever since but there was no blood shed until last Saturday.

of church extension. Reports were submitted from the boards of education, missions and Sunday schools.

Dr. Morton, in presenting the church extension work, stated that there are 20,000 Cubans in Florida, most of them at Key West. Many have become prominent citizens and have thrown of the Species. tens and have thrown off the Spanish yoke and allegiance to the Catholic church, but have not connected themselves with any other. Already the church at Key West is completed; enother nearly so at Ybor City, a suburb of Tampa, and it is hoped before the year is out to get enough money to build a church at Cuba City. Bishop Hargrove followed Dr. Morton and took up the work in Oklahoma, he having presided over the Indian mission conference for two years and made a tour of the Indian Territory. He said the course of the Methodist church, south, was exceedingly successful in the Indian Territory mission conference, which had nine presulting elders, districts, some af which have reached the limit of the law. For every $100 donated by the board the congregations there offer to put up a building worth from $350 to $1,250. The bishop then appealed for subscriptions from those present, stating that for each $100 raised a church could be named as the givers of the money desired. CLAIMS THE MILLIONS.

Mrs. H. Q Davis-Williams-Snell Pulls

a Record.

Butte, Mont., March 25.—Mrs. Huldal Queen Davis-Williams-Snell, of Tehachapi, Kern county, Cal., today created a sensation among the claimants to the Davis estate, by filing a petition in the district court, asking for the revocation of the alleged forged will of Andrew J. Davis, the dead millionaire, and demanding the distri-bution of the entire estate of many millions among herself and two daughters, alleging that she is the surviving wife of the de-ceased, who was believed never to have been married. She al'eges in her peti jou that they were married in Carroll county, Ark., August 15, 1842, and have two children, May Isabel, now Mrs. Morrow, of Fresno, Cal., and Laura A., now Mrs. Calhoun, of San Francisco.

It is stated by Miles J. Cavanaugh, the woman's attorney, that when the gold fe-ver broke out, Davis left her and went to California. After a few letters had been received from her husband, Mrs. Davis heard he had been killed and she married a man named Williams, with whom she moved to California, where she found traces of her first husband. Davis soon went to Montana. After the death of Wil-liams Mrs. Davis married George Snell, who is also dead now. After the latter's leath she determined to demand her rights as the wife of Davis.

There Were Only Six Delegates Who Upheld the Claims of the Maine Man.

Waycross, Ga., March 25 .- (Special.)-Great excitement prevailed today in the eleventh district republican convention. Two conventions convened at the same One consisted of McKinley delegates and the other consisted of Reed delegates and was presided over by Anthony Wilson Glynn, colored, of Glynn county,

The Reed convention consisted of six delegates, and the remaining delegates, thirty in number, composed the McKinley convention. The two conventions were not originally on the programme for the day. The Reed element on learning the strength of McKinley in the meeting, conceived the scheme of holding from the McKinieyites and by sheer bluff and bull-dozing get control of the meeting. The two conventions were soon brought face to face by a sensational incident. Chairman Snelson, of the McKinley convention, which became the regular official meeting, vainly attempted to restore order He rapped furiously on the table and called on the delegates for order. His voice was not listened to by the Reed faction. So much confusion existed that over twen-ty persons rose up at one time and tried to engage in the discussion over the mat-

Chairman Snelson called on the high sheriff, the chief of police, the county judge and the ordinary of the county to stop the row. The officers interfered and with some difficulty order was obtained to some extent.

Grant was placed under arrest. The deed faction left the courthouse and the ickiniey faction held the convention. The ed men, or some of them, reappeared in the convention later, but they took no ac-tive part in the work. "Sound Money" Men Said Free Coinage Was Unrepublican.

Huron, S. D., March 25 .- McKinley swept the republican state convention today amid great enthusiasm. There was not a dissenting voice. South Dakota's eight delegates are instructed for the Ohio man and for "sound money."

The big fight of the convention was b tween the free coinage and the "sound money" men. Senator Pettigrew made s powerful fight to prevent any express on the silver question and made a long argument before the resolutions commit-tee. The latter unanimously reported and the convention unanimously adopted the money plank of the national platform of The convention also requested all aspirants for the position of delegate to the national convention to rise and de-clare his attitude toward silver and pledge himself not only to vote, but to work for "sound money" at St. Louis. Every one did this, including Senator Pettigrew, the latter stating that he bowed to the will of the majority.

Several speakers severely arraigned the free coinage men as unrepublican and dis-honest, but not a word was said on the other side. The anti-Pettigrew men had threatened that in case the free coinage men raised a question, to leave Pettigree at home. The other seven delegates held meeting and pledged themselves not to allow Senator Pettigrew to be chairman of the delegation or to be on the credentials or platform committees at St. Louis, o

Republican Convention at Work in the Lone Star State.

Austin, Tex., March 25.-Owing to the delay of Chairman Cuney in selecting committees the republican convention did not meet today until 1 o'clock, at which time the committee were announced and adjournment was had until 7 o'clock. At that hour the convention was called to order and the committee on credentials not being ready to report the convention adjourned until tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

Cuney in selecting the committees has wholly ignored the McKinley men and has wholly ignored the McKinley men and has placed W. H. McDowell, state manager for Reed, at the head of the committee on credentials. His action has given the Reed element, which had been lost in the shuffle, new life and this afternoon the Cuney combine made up the following slate to elect as delegates to the national convention tomographs.

D. B. Ferguson, Wright Cuney, William

M. Makemson and A. T. Terrell.

The two latter are white and both originally Reed men; the two first are colored and are for Allison. There is every indication that the sale will go through. Up to this afternoon the Cuney combine had been willing to accede to the election of Chairman Grant, of the state executive committee, a McKinley man, but a caucus today of McKinley men called, it was said, to discuss the advisiability of cutting loose from the black and tan wing and holding an exclusive white convention, determined the fate of Grant and he was dropped from the list of delegates and the Mc Kinleyites, who Tuesday morning believed they would carry the convention with a whoop, are entirely left out.

Mr. J. K. Pollard, of Columbus, O., loom ed up here tonight in the interest of Mc-Kinley, and he is infusing new life into the demoralized ranks of the Ohio man's followers. At midnight they are holding a caucus and the McKinley leaders have a large number of negro delegates in the lobby of the hotel, and they assert that they will spring a surprise on the convention tomorrow and smash the Cuney combine at least to the extent of electing a delegate.

Boston Is for the Czar. Boston, March 25.—The ninth annual din-ner of the Boston Market Men's Republican Club, at the Quincy house, this evening, was devoted to the indorsement of Reed for president and Wolcott for governor in the coming campaign. Maxey Cobb Said To Be Behind in His Accounts.

Lincoln, Neb., March 25.—An apparent shortage of $30,000 in the accounts of County Treasurer Maxey Cobb was disclosed today by the report of State Examiner Fo-drae, made to the commissioners. This is what the books show, but Mr.

President Powers, of the association, reached Atlanta last night, and, though the Columbus meeting did not pan out a club to complete the circuit, Mr. Powers ion and in no way doubtful of a six-clu association. With a number of the directors of the Atlanta Baseball Association Mr. Powers discussed the situation last night and submitted a great deal of in-

"I am inclined to think," said President Powers, "that Columbus would be a good ball town and a leading member of Southern Association; but some one has been throwing cold water on that town. It was intended to keep Columbus out of the association.

"Still I found the people there enthusiastic supporters of the game. They talked interestingly of the days when Columbus was in the Southern League and was away up, bunching with clubs reaching out for the flag. But when they were asked to come in this year they suggested the 'long tumps,' as they called them, as one of the didn't take me long to show them that they were radically wrong in their concep-tion of that expense, as Columbus could have traveled every mile of the season with an expense of about $1,200. That was based upon the idea that they would carry twelve men and move a little less than

But when shown that the jumps would be moderately short all the way through, the sky changed, and I thought everything in fine shape.

"But when we began to canvass the town yesterday it didn't take long to demor strate the fact that the requisite amount of money could not be raised. The gentle men with plethoric purses who were named as lovers of the game when approached would not cough up a dollar. They all said they wanted to see the game, and would patronize it liberally if a club was planted in Columbus, but none of them wanted to open the well-filled purse and chip in. The canvass—two hours long it was—gave us $135. We had before that about $500. Putting those two sums to-gether and adding to them the most sanguine expectations we could entertain would have given us $1,000 as the very largy

While in Columbus President Powers re-ceived a telegram from Shreveport, La., asking for a franchise. The wire was signed by Lloyd Bowers, who is one of the wealthiest and most progressive young men of that town-a young man who loves the game and at his own expe a team through the Texas League one season. At the minute the telegram was handed to President Powers he was at the depot awaiting a train for home, but at once changed his ticket and came to At-lanta. Scon after President Powers reached the city he held a conference with the Atlanta club directors

"Now, there is one of two things only to do," said Mr. Powers. "One is to drop one of the seven towns and make a sixclub association. The other is to secure favor the eight clubs, and I believe Shrevefavor the eight clubs, and I believe Shreveport will come running when the chance

A message was sent giving Mr. Bowers the conditions under which a franchise could be obtained.

"What's the matter with President Powers going to Nashville and seeing if that new crowd would not take a franchise?" was asked by Mr. Messick.

That question was discussed fully. The discussion brought out the fact that Nashville was claiming that she had been thrown out of the association bodily at the Birmingham meeting.

"That's news to me," said President Powers, "and it is all untrue. In Birmingham we made every effort to keep Nashville in. We showed clearly that every member of the association, including Mobile, which had caused the adjourned meeting, was ready to comply with every demand Nashville had made. We asked them more than once to come along and after they had gone out, letters are on file where we asked them to come back. We did all this at our own expense, paying for the answers as well as for the messages we sent. I would be mighty glad, indeed, to get a club in Nashville. In fact, it would make me happy now, and it would please every member of the association."

The directors of the Atlanta club will meet in Secretary Mast's office this afternoon at 4 o'clock. By that time President Powers will have heard from Shreveport. If that town comes in it will be eight clubs. If it don't come in six clubs will be combined and a schedule will at once be made for the towns composing that association.

Columbus Won't Join.

Columbus (Fa., March 25.—(Special.)—Columbus will not be in the Southern Baseball League. This became evident today when the soliciting committee appointed yesterday afternoon to self stock in the proposed Columbus Baseball Association succeeded, after hard work, in raining $125. It was thought necessary to raise at least $2,000, and this sum was accordingly fixed as the capital stock for the proposed association. Four hundred and thirty dollars was subscribed at yesterday afternor same meeting, of which amount the Columbus Railroad Company contributed $400. The purchasing of the stock really amounted to a donation. This morning the committee of three appointed, accompanied by President Powers, of the Southern League, canvassed the city. They worked a couple of hours and raised $125. All the prominent fans in the city were approached, but not a cent more could be raised. From many prominent citizens from whom hieral contributions had been expected not a cant was obtained. The plans of the Southern League this season were explained in detail by President Powers, but practically mothing was accomplished. Finally the committee realized the situation and quit. Columbus will not be in the Southern League this season, at least, if she ever will. There was to have been another meeting of the baseballists at noon today, but as the committee was dismally unsuccessful in raising the necessary funds.

ization. He is thoroughly familiar with the duties of president and no better man could have been chosen to fill that responsible position. The Southern Institute of American Architects is an organization for the protec-tion of architects and has members all over the United States. It has been in existence for about sixteen years. The southern chap-ter was formed two years ago and the headquarters are located in Atlanta. It has members all over the southern states and the membership list is continually on the increase. By the enthusiastic many increase. By the enthusiastic manner in which the architects of this city and in others are taking hold of the idea, the southern chapter promises to be in a few years as strong, if not stronger, than any other in the organization.

The southern chapter has been entirely newly officered with brainy and compenewly officered with brainy and compe-tent men, and the boom on which it was kept by the hard work of the old officers will undoubtedly be kept up by the new set, for they have started in on their duties with an energy seldom seen, Mr. Bryan is doing all in his power to help and advance the southern chapter and by his untiring efforts will prove a credit to the organiza-tion.

That is the secret of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery's wonderful cures. It assists Nature according to her own laws; it is on Nature's side and Nature helps it; it imparts new power to the nutritive and blood making organs to create a large quantity of fresh, red, healthy blood which drives every germ of disease out of the system and builds up strong healthy tissues and solid flesh. "I would like to tell the whole world what your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has done for me. The doctor, who is considered an expert on lung troubles, told me I had consumption. He said both my lungs were diseased and I could not live long. I felt down-hearted for I have dear little children to live for. I just went to him to get his opinion. I am glad I did for now I know what your medicine will do. When I started on the second bottle I was better in every way and was able to take a walk on every fine day. I enjoyed my sieep, my appetite was good, and by the time I had finished the second bottle I began to feel like a new woman. I still had a cough, so I got a third bottle and by the time I was half gone I was completely cured."

well made a confession, in which he stated subtantially what he confessed yester-lay at Cochran and which was published a The Constitution this morning.

He declared that the elder Shaw and his on, Tom Shaw, planned the wreck and forced him to assist in it by pointing guns at his head and threatening to kill him if he did not heip. They made him draw spikes from the rail and one of the Shaws sicked into the creek a wrench that was used in the diabolical work. A crowbar was also thrown into the creek. Criswell went fully into details and said when the crash came and the train plunged into the creek he was two miles from the fatal trestle where the rail had been removed. As a result of Criswell's confession the fatal trestle where the rail had been fatal trestle where the rail the state of the declars and the rail trestle where the rail the state of the declars and the rail trestle where the rail the state of the rail trestle where the rail the state of the rail ar into the night. His line of defense was to establish an alibi. The court ordered that Criswell and the Shaws be brought to Macon and placed in the Bibb jail for safe keeping until their trial in the superior court of Twiggs county.

Tom Shaw is alleged to have made a confession Saturday.

Strange to say, however, Shaw was walking the streets of Macon yesterday a free man and exhibited a large roll of money which is said to have been paid to him yesterday by the Southern railway as damages for injuries sustained by his wife, who was aboard the ill-fated train that plunged into Stone creek. Shaw made several purchases this morning. He attended the trial and was arrested. It is said that Mrs. Criswell overheard the Shaws planning the wreck.

One of the party is presdent of a large carriage manufacturing company and may establish a branch here. A committee from the local board of trade has charge of the party and have shown them various tracts of land suitable for manufacturing pur-poses, as well as a number of desirable farms.

A plantation of 1,200 acres was visited today, the purpose being to locate a colony of Hollanders thereon. Another member of the party is desirous of building a canning factory here and is looking at property suitable therefor. The gentlemen express themselves greatly pleased with this section of Georgia and doubtless will make large investments here.

Several days ago Ragland's father went to Sheriff Gammon and told the sheriff that his son had $187 concealed in an old tomato can near his home, in Campbell county, and that his son was about to compromise the horse-stealing scrape and that he wanted the sheriff to carry him to Campbell to get the money. At first the sheriff demurred, but after talking with young Ragland, he decided to take him as it had been rumored that Ragland had robbed his former employers and this was the money. In order to get the sheriff to carry him Ragland suggested that he be handcuffed and irons put on him. This allayed the sheriff's suspicion, and on Monday, together with J. A. Roop, they left and after driving several hours, Ragland told them to drive in a certain direction, as they were near the place. They finally came to an old pine field and Ragland told them that that was the place, and his leg irons were taken off in order that he could walk. His handcuffs were left on. Roop got out of the buggy with Ragland and as he went to tie the horse, Ragland jerked away and made a run for a pine thicket and entered a swamp and succeeded in getting away, as it was dark at the time. A reward of $50 is offered for his capture and return to Sheriff Gammon. him. This allayed the sheriff's suspicion

Katherine, the Shrew Miss Ada Rehan The people of Atlanta were given a rare treat last night in the magnificent produc-tion of "Taming of the Shrew," with Miss 'Ada Rehan as Katherine. This is one of the roles in which she has won her greatest success, and certainly all the success tha has come to her is deserved. It was a production of Shakespearean comedy, such as is given us but once in a great while to see, and perhaps it is for that reason that we appreciate it the more. In every detail the production was perfection. It was elaborate both in the mounting and in the number of people used, the comedy being produced in its entirely.

A Great Comedy Tomorrow Night.

"Charley's Aunt" will be seen at the Grand tomorrow and Saturday evenings, with matinee Saturday. It is one of the biggest comedy successes which this country has seen in years. It is full of good wholesome fun, spontaneous, uproarious, clean and unforced. It is a very simple thing, too, which causes most of it—a young man masquerading and masquerading in a most deliciously droll and awkward manner, in female apparel, with awkward manner, in female apparel, with scarcely any attempt whatever at mimicipg lady-like airs and graces.

The comedy is world renowned, having been presented everywhere. It is now in its third year in London. All of Europe's capitals, Australia and south Africa are laughing at "Charley's Aunt." The runs in this country were remarkable, especially in New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia. Manager Charles Frohman promises his principal company in this comedy. "Sam'l of Posen" at the Lyceum. "Sam'l of Posen" at the Lyceum.

Unquestionably the season's comedy event will be the appearance of M. B. Cur-tis at the Lyceum theater on April 1st and 2d, Thursday matinee, who will appear in his old character as Samuel of Posen. While the title and theme of the story remain the same, Samuel has since its last appearance here undergone a complete revision and rewriting, and has been ma-terially strengthened in plot, dialogue and comedy, and is now reported to be in every particular thoroughly up to date, and funnier than ever. There is a treat in store for those who attend the performances. Mr. Curtis has always been a great favorite in Atlanta, and his long absence, coupled with the glowing accounts of the enormous success of his new version of "Samuel" during its long run of twelve weeks in New York city, at the Standard theater, and its phenomenal success throughout the country during the present tour has caused a more than usual amount of interest to be taken in his approaching engagement here. As a character comedian and dialectician, Mr. Curtis has few, if any, equals in his characterization of the hustling, goodnatured, cheeky drummer. The company supporting Mr. Curtis embodies the names of a number of most excellent ladies and gentlemen in the theatrical profession, notably Mrs. Curtis (Albana Deller), whose exceptionally fine rendition of the character of Celeste has won for her the universal praise of the press and public wherever she has appeared. ery particular thoroughly up to date, and

To Talk to Policemen.

This morning at $1.5 o'clock Rev. Sam Jones will address the members of the police force in the courtrooms of the recorder and Chief Conpolly last night had read a notice to this effect, expressing the hope that there would be a large attendance at this morning's meeting. This meeting is rather out of the order of revivalists' methods and no doubt Mr. Jones will be greeted by a large audience of blue coats when he speaks of the temptations and pitfalls that surround all guardians of a city's peace and good order. Got Mr. Stockdell's Umbrella.

Police Commissioner Harry Stockdell was made the victim of a thief yesterday morning who plainly showed his contempt for the majesty of the law when there is, a chance of escape. Commissioner Stockdell left a fine silk umbrella outside his door while he stepped inside for a few moments. When he returned that article of usefulness had disappeared and has not been recovered yet.

Mr. Robert Jones Ill. Mr. Robert Jones, the brother of Mr. W. O. Jones, the well-known livery stable man, was taken suddenly sick last night at the Marion hotel, where he boards. Mr. Jones sometimes has hemorrhages and he had one last night. For a while he was very sick, but later he grew better and at last reports was sleeping quietly.

A Little Girl Dies.

She was taken sick with measles some time ago; this turned into pneumonia and since then she has been lingering between life and death until yesterday, when she passed quietly away. The funeral services will be conducted at the home of her parents this afternoon at haif-past 2 o'clock. The interment will be at River Hill cemetery.

To Rest in Oakland.

The funeral of Mrs. M. A. Laird, the mother of Mr. A. L. Laird, of this city, will occur this morning at St. Paul's church, on Hunter street. The interment will be at Oakland cemetery. Mrs. Laird died last Monday in Charlotte, where she had gone on a visit. She had been in ill health for some time but the cause of her death is attributed to old age. She had many friends here and her death will cause much sorrow.

Mr. Cole Dies of Pneumonia. Mr. Cole Dies of Pneumonia.

Mr w. J. Cole, the well-known electrician, died yesterday morning at his home, No. 207 Washington street. He had been sick with pneumonia for a very short time and his death was unexpected. Mr. Cole came to Atlanta originally from New York. He was forty-seven years of age and was for a long time connected with the Southern Bell Telephone Company, and left them to start in business for himself. Mr. Cole leaves a wife and three children to mourn his loss. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock, from his late residence, 207 Washington street. His remains will be placed in the receiving yault.

An Infant Dies An infant of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Dyer died yesterday at the residence of its parents, 33 Bell street. The funeral will occur this afternoon. The little one will occur this afternoon. The little be buried at Oakland cemetery.

Mrs. Owens Gives Bond. Mrs. Jessie Owens, charged with the shooting of young Adolphus, gave bond for her appearance in the criminal branch of the superior court when her trial is reached. The bond is in the amount of $500 and was signed up yesterday.

Church Members in Court. The factions of the Buckhead Congrega-tional church were given a hearing yester-day afternoon in the office of special mas-ter Howell C. Erwin. The case will be taken up before Judge Lumpkin in cham-bers on next Saturday and final action will be taken.

Scott Thornton Next Monday. Scott Thornton in "Richelieu" is the bill at the Columbia next Monday evening. The tragedian is doing daily rehearsals and s said to have a good compan-has organized for his support.

Mr. S. C. Lawrence Dead. Mr. S. C. Lawrence Dead.

Mr. S. C. Lawrence, a traveling man from Phoenix City, Ala., died at the Grady hospital yesterday morning. Mr. Lawrence is a former resident of Atlanta but has been connected for some time with a large mercantile firm in Phoenix City and while on a trip here he was attacked by a complication of diseases. He was removed to the hospital about two weeks ago, but in spite of all the physicians could do he sank under the hand of the dread diseases. He will be buried today from the residence of Mrs. Cox. 344 Whitchall street. Mr. Lawrence was married to a niece of Mrs. Cox. The interment will occur at Westview cemetery. Mr. Lawrence had hosts of friends here and in Phoenix City, who will be deeply pained to learn of his demise.

Mr. Thompson Will Run.

Mr. Thompson Will Run.

Mr. Joseph Thompson, whose term of office as a member of the county board of commissioners soon expires, announced yesterday that he would be a candidate for re-election from the north side. Mr. Thompson stated that he has begun several pieces of work in the county which he wishes to see accomplished while he is a member of the board. Mr. C. A. Collier, the present chairman of the board, will not be a candidate, but Judge E. B. Rosser will run as a candidate from the south side.

Dr. J. A. Thornton, Sr., the father of Dr. J. A. Thornton, of this city, has moved to Atlanta and will hereafter be in the dental office of his son. Dr. Thornton, Sr., has until recently lived in Long-Judge Poole Has Resigned.

The resignation of Judge Poole, who has been a member of the county board of education, placed his resignation in the hands of the grand jury yesterday. He asks that the resignation be acted upon at once, as he will be a candidate for the position of county school commissioner which was left vacant on account of the death of Judge Fain.

Stole a Bicycle. Last evening, about 8 o'clock, a bicycle was stolen from the sidewalk in front of the Southern Messenger Service Company's office, No. 45 North Broad street. The matter was immediately turned in to police headquarters, and the officers are keeping a sharp lookout for a party who rides a purple-tired wheel.

Young Physicians and Dentists Preparing To Go Forth.

THIRTY-FOUR DENTISTS READY

Many Will Graduate Tonight-Work of the State Dental Board in Atlanta-The Graduates.

Thirty-four licenses entitling as many young men to practice dentistry in the state of Georgia, were signed, sealed and delivered to that number of aspiring young dental graduates by the state den tal board vesterday afternoon. The majority of the applicants were from the Atlanta Dental college, the rest were from the Southern Medical college and others graduates from different colleges over the country who desired to practice their profession in this state and stood the examination that they might use the forceps on Georgia soil. Since Monday morning the senate chamber at the capitol has presented a busy appearance, and at the desks where a few months past the legislators had held sway the dental graduates busied themselves answering the questions that were put to them by the examining board. . Yesterday morning the last of the papers were completed and the gentlemen of the board locked themselves in an adjoining room and proceeded to carefully go over the papers and sign the licenses for the successful applicants. It was a long and tedious job and the examiners did not leave the room all day even for dinner. At 6 o'clock a crowd of anxious young men crowded around the door and awaited their fate. The result was that out of forty papers thirty-four were of a most satisfactory nature, and thirty-four young men left the capitol with their professional license in their pockets.

Those who received the official paper were as follows: F. A. Brosius, of Union, S. C.: R. W. Breag, of Octagon, Va.; C. W. Baker, of Louisville, Ala.; L. W. Buit, of Amer, Ga.; E. T. C.; J. W. Wester, of Fairburn, Ga., and D. M. Gates, of Rockwales, Ala. The examining board was composed of the following gentlemen: Dr. John H. Coye, of Thomasville, Ga.; Dr. B. H. Catching, of Atlanta; Dr. H. H. Johnson, of Macon; Dr. A. G. Bouton, of Savannah, and Dr. D. D. Atkinson, of Brunswick. These gentlemen say they never examned a more satisfactory set of papers than those that busied them yesterday. had a picture of the board taken a few days ago and will present to the one having the nighest average marks on his examination paper one of these pictures. They will average up the marks in a few days and decide the lucky young dentist who will hang in his office a picture of the

The college has just closed its third annua session and graduates as fine a lot of young dentists as has ever been turned out from any institution of its kind in the country the number of its graduates being larger than any it has sent forth from its halls

An orchestra of twenty young men from among the students will furnish the music for the occasion. The "A. D. C." two-step march, which was written especially for the Atlanta Dental college by a young violinist of eighteen years, will be played. Abbeville, Ala, March 20, 1896 -Constitution, Atlana: I enclose you money order for $5, for which please send me Daily Constitution. If you can, please send me the copy containing an account of Senator Pugh's mashing the gold bug. Dikinson's. nose, for insulting him. Yours truly, J. G. COWAN.

The People and the Senatorship. Four counties, and only four, have acted under the call of the state committee-

Fulton Floyd, Wilkinson and Jackson.

'And all have ordered primaries for the 6th of June, and have likewise provided for the democratic voters to express their choice for United States senator at the same primary.

This is in accordance with democratic views and democratic policy.

It is worthy of note that those who favor the postponement of the senate primary belong to the element that is opposed to allowing the purpose of the people to have any direct voice in the selection of United States senator. The proposition is too democratic to suit their ideas of government. They want to interpose all sorts of machinery between the people and the selection of United States senators.

Having been balked in this, and feeling assured that they cannot prevent a senatorial primary, some of them now pretend to desire to postpone the matter to a day when such a primary will bring confusion into the state election. In other words, if they cannot control-if not prevent the people from expressing their choice for United States senator-they desire to do all they can to set up the machinery of demoralization and confusion.

It is worthy of note, also, that without exception the men who have oposed the senatorial primary and who now desire to postpone it, are the very men who are striving with all their might to sidetrack democratic financial doctrines and to substitute for it the doctrine that has been made odious not only by its results, but by the ardent support it has received from the republican party.

This fact is more than significant. It shows the true nature of the scheme that was behind a proposition to a senatorial primary and that is now behind the proposition to postpone. Like Mr. Micawber, the men who are in favor of postponement hope that something may turn up-just what they do not knowbut something that will enable them to maintain their standing as democrats while they advocate the financial views of John Sherman and the republican party. On the other hand, if nothing turns up, they hope to be able, by injecting the senatorial contest into the state election, to create confusion and demoralization; for they are realizing that only under the shadow of democratic division can they obtain a footing in Georgia for the odious republican doctrine which they have adopted-the doctrine that desires to sacrifice all the value of the people's labor in order to make the money of the bankers and bondholders "sound."

Many of the county executive committees will meet and act during the first week in April. They can make no mistake-on the contrary they will meet the wishes of the people and thus promote the harmony of the party-by following the example of the executive committees of Fulton, Floyd, Wilkinson and Jackson and ordering the senatorial primaries on the day fixed by the state executive committee for the selection of delegates to the state convention.

So far as the right of the people to express their choice for United States senator is concerned, no genuine democrat will dispute. The office of United States senator is truly a representative one, as representative, indeed, as the office of governor. To say that a senator represents the state is to make the matter plain. The whole people are the state, and it is not possible to conceive of a state apart from the people.

The statement has been made that the primary is proposed for the benefit of Crisp; but what advantage will it be to Crisp, or to any other candidate, if the people are not for him-if they do not want him? No; the question is bigger han any probable or possible candidate -bigger than all the candidates put together: but no candidate who is afraid of the people has any right to set up obstacles to prevent the people from expressing their choice in the matter. A candidate who is afraid of the people. or the man who is afraid to announce himself as a candidate, has no business to be a candidate, and has no right to expect any favors at the hands of the

But this question, as we have said, is bigger than any and all the candidates. The contention affects the right of the people to give expression at the ballot box to their choice for United States enator. The county executive committees are close enough to the people to appreciate this fact, and their concern for the well-being of the party in this critical year will prompt them, we trust and believe, to set the senatorial primary for the 6th of June, the day when the other primaries are to take place.

A Confession of Weakness.

It is hard to believe that a newspaper would deliberately deceive the public; hence we credit the mistake made in the following paragraph, taken from yesterday afternoon's issue of Secretary Smith's "official organ," to ignorance rather than to intentional fraud: The democrats of Carroll and Milton counties have determined not to nominate their candidates for the legislature and ounty offices and not to vote their choice for senator at the June primary.

They have come to the sensible conclusion that these matters can be attended t better later on and that it is not advisable to mix them up in a primary for the elec tion of delegates to the state convention. On the presumption that the misstate ment above made, as to the action of Carroll and Milton counties, is the result of ignorance, The Constitution is enabled to throw light on the subject and will leave no excuse for a repetition of the mistaken attitude in which the demo crats of both of these counties are placed.

First, as to Carroll county: The democratic executive committee of Carroll county made a call on the 14th instant for a democratic mass meeting to be held in Carrollton on the 7th of April for the purpose of electing a new committee, and at the same fime choosing delegates | forth and every man present purried to the state convention. On being informed afterwards that the resolutions of the state committee, by instruction of the last democratic state convention, required that all delegates to this year's state convention should be elected by regular ballot on the same day, and that June 6th had been fixed as the date of such action by the state committee, the chairman of the Carroll county executive committee modified the call accordingly, and, as the matter now stands, the democrats of Carroll county will meet on the 7th of April to select a new committee, and to take such other action as may be necessary. No other action whatsoever has been taken by the present democratic executive committee of Carroll county. Second, as to Milton county: A mass meeting of the democrats of Milton county was called to assemble at Alpharetta on the 11th of April for the purpose of nominating a representative, expressing the preference of the county for state senator and selecting delegates to the state convention. This call was issued before the official announcemenut of the action of the state executive committee had been sent out by the chairman and the secretary of the state committee. Like in Carroll, the call in Milton will, of course, be modified, as delegates to the state convention cannot be elected mous instruction of the last state con-Of course it is not expected that a primary for United States senator will be ordered in every county in Georgia. It is a fact well known that the executive committee in some of the counties of the state will not give the people of their respective countles an opportunity to vote on the senatorship. In every instance the reason is well known. As to Milton and Carroll counties, neither of which have finally acted, we are confident that the executive committee of each county will give to the people the same privilege which the executive committees of not less than a hundred of the 137 counties of the state will awardthat of expressing their preference for on which nobody contends, as the action of the state committee, in this detail of

United States senator at the ballot box. Instead, however, of exulting at the refusal of any county committee to let the people say who they want to represent them in the senate, it is a matter about which those who coppose such course should keep as quiet as possible, for their very exultation is a confession of humiliation and weakness.

Free Coinage in the National Convention. The studied effort that is now being made to deceive and dishearten the democratic voters of Georgia by assertions that the democratic national convention will declare for republican financial views cannot have escaped the attention of those who go to the pains of reading the gold standard and cuckoo rgans. It is asserted by these organs here in Georgia that the national convention is sure to declare for the single gold standard and that if the democrats of Georgia want to put themselves in line with the party they should either vance or say nothing at all about

Now, we believe the democratic voters of Georgia know enough about the situation to know that such assertions not only have no basis of fact, but that they are wildly improbable. If only the southern democrats were in favor of the restoration of silver the case would indeed be a hopeless one, but the south ern free coinage delegates in the national convention will have the suppor of the delegates from nine-tenths of the western states from more than one of the northwestern states and from some of the middle states.

In other words, the free coinage den crats of the country will have a ma jority of the delegates in the national convention. They will be able to dictate every line of the national platform and will be enabled to prevent the nomnation of any candidate who is obnoxious to their views. The free coinage men who have studied the situation and made a careful canvass are absolutely certain that this will be the result. Indeed, the fact is so patent that the conservative republican corres pondents at Washington are beginning o admit it.

We print in another column part of letter from the Washington correspondent of The Boston Transcript, which is a republican newspaper, and, of course, n favor of "sound" money-money "bas ed on the present gold standard." The extract which we print is extremely interesting and we commend it to the attention of those who may have been mpressed by the wild and ridiculous assumptions of the cuckoo and gold

The progressive enterprise displayed by the wideawake citizens of Quitman in the matter of projecting a railroad from that point to Tifton, on the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad, deserves the commendation of all who are interested in the material upbuilding of the state.

Having already formed a stock company and having taken the initial steps, no delay will be made in the construction of the road and the enterprise will be completed as soon as labor, brains and energy can serve to being about that consummation.

At a meeting of the citizens of Quitman, held last Monday morning, as announced in our news columns yesterday, this determination was distinctly set away from the meeting a live coal of enthusiasm.

Such persistent enterprise as this appeals to the emulation of other towns in Georgia and if this progressive spirit could be diffused it would speedily bring about a more prosperous condition of affairs in Georgia.

Quitman, at present, has direct commu nication with the east and west but no direct communication with the upper portions of the state. The same re mark applies to Thomasville. Both towns are inaccessible, except at a great sacrifice of time, to the people who reside in middle and north Georgia. For this reason both Thomasville and Quitman are more inaccessible than towns in different states, which have direct communication, and distances much greater can be traveled in a much shorter travel in other directions. If Thomasville and Quitman would combine their interests and undertake to build a road, giving more direct communication with Macon and Atlanta, he result would not only be to the mu tual advantage of those respective towns but would furnish a commercial highway for the improvement of all that section of the state.

Why Not One Republic? Unless the rebellious spirit which has been at work for the last twenty-five years in the Central American republics is speedily checked by some prompt and powerful intervention the result will be lisastrous not only to the perpetuity of those republics but to the cause of free government in other parts of the globe. This prediction is based upon the logic of recent events, as well as upon the record of the last quarter of a century. Signs of discontent have been observed in every gust of wind that has come from that corner of the map. Recent developments, however, have assumed a still more revolutionary character and the latest advices from that disturbed section seem to indicate that all five of the Central American republics may become involved in the general uprising whose fountain springs are located among the mountains of Honduras.

The cause of this unhappy state of things may be readily explained. These five republics, Costa Rica, Honduras, Guatemala, Nicaragua and San Salvador, are each too small to contend successfully against the older and more extensive powers of the earth and the martial spirit, therefore, which might otherwise be displayed in keeping foreign powers at a distance is explained in domestic difficulties and family quarrels among themselves.

Strung on the chain of the Andes mountains these five republics of Central America cover a rich and fertile domain of earth, prolific in all the resources that are needed to build up and sustain a magnificent empire. Among the mineral and vegetable resources which are common to these states, are gold, silver, copper, iron, zinc, antimony, limestone, marble, coal, cotton, sugar, tobacco, coffee, bananas, indigo, whea and potatoes. These are not meagerly produced but abound in large quanti-

The resources of this rich domain are not available, however, in the measure of that surpassing opulence which na ture has given to the soil, for the simple reason that five weak and jealous little republics contend for its mastery. About That Boundary Line.

From The Philadelphia Record.

The international boundary comhas an important and difficult ques ered by the newspaper men of Washin ton as the most solemn looking man the United States senate. Naturally, Mexico claims part of the "made land," and New Mexico is un-Royal marriages are popular themes for gossip even in republican America. The following is clipped from one of the Washington papers: "The Princess Marguerite of Orleans, who is to marry the son of the late Marshal MacMahon, is twenty-seven years old, tall, good looking and highly accomplished. The prospective bridgeroom holds the title of Duc de Magenta. He is forty-one years old and a good soldier. The match is viewed with enthusiasm by the royalists of France."

Tony Pastor, the celebrated theater manager of New York city, entertained his New York friends last Monday evening, the occasion being his thirty-first anniversary as manager of the playhouse which bears his name. Tony Pastor nas been willing to give it up. Without venturing any opinion on the question with which the wiling to give it up. Without venturing any opinion on the question with which the commission is struggling, it may be pointed out that the plan of adopting rivers as boundary lines is a very unsatisfactory one, and this is especially true of the uncertain streams in the west and southwest, which are apt to shift their channels arbitrarily and without notice. The aniv groups way without notice. The only proper way without notice. The only proper way ark boundaries, except in cases where anent natural obstacles intervene, is meteorological lines. ### SILVER SURE TO WIN

Gold Democrats Cannot Control the Convention. From The Boston Transcript.

Washington, March 21.—(Regular Letter.)
There is a man in Washington whose gifts in prophecy I have come to regard highly. He holds an administration position which brings him closely in contact with things political, and having been in public life for a generation is not easily public life for a generation, is not easily swayed by passing breezes. Some months ago, before a delegate to Sf. Louis had been chosen, I asked him how the field looked. It was the time when people generally sup-posed the contest would be long drawn out, and that each of a half-dozen candidates would go into the convention strong, and that two or three leaders, at least, would be pretty close together. He replied: "Now I want to tell how it looks to me. I am a democrat and have no interest in the republican nomination, but, aside from th favorite son votes, McKinley is going to carry the great body of republicans." And then he went on to give the reasons for it, and certainly, so far, his prophecy is looking well. Still earlier he made anoth-er prophecy, decidedly contrary to public expectations, namely, that the republicans would organize the senate so far as the committee chairmanships were concerned, but that there would be for the present lit tle or no change in the minor offices, and that the democrats would retain at least a part of the petty patronage. People then said the republicans would think it bac thereby the responsibility for leadership; but after looking the matter up a little, I followed my experienced friend in predict ing a republican organization. Nor was the ophecy long delayed in fulfillment.

Today, my seer of things to come says something else which few people believe, and more dislike to believe, namely, that the free silver people will have a majority of from twenty-five to seventy-five in the Chicago convention, and will accordingly organize that body and name the candidates. This is important as well as sur prising, if true. The idea, however, is ab olutely ridiculed by the sound money dem crats; they assert that their party will g even further than the republicans in supporting the gold standard, and that from a strategic point of view, their only chance o outgeneral their adversaries is by taking the gold standard ground from behind them in case the republicans should decide to ac-cept the unsafe middle ground foreshadowed by the McNapoleonic platform. The silver people, on the other hand, are equally pronounced in asserting that they will conpronounced in asserting that they that troit the Chicago convention. Senator Cockrell claims that from a careful canvass this result is certain beyond the possibility of a doubt. Still others say that whichever way the majority of the convention may at heart believe concerning the abstract pro-position, expediency alone will whip them nto line for a sound money platform. This was practically the case in 1892 believe it will be repeated in 1896. 1892, and thex The situation, however, will bear watching. Democrats are generally disheartened this year and are not inclined to put up with so much for party harmony and to carry the ticket through when they see no ice that it will go through. the use to equivocate, they may say, when even equivocation will not give us a victory? Moreover, both sides assert that they are weary of the facing both ways, and that the question will be more squarely drawn this time than ever before. What will be the result at Chicago of a party which, through discouragement, is heedess of expediency, and from unfortunate equivocation is weary of double dealing? The delegates will be pretty likely to vote about as they feel, and let everything else go by. The committee on resolutions is that these forty-five men will bring majority report for free silver seems cer-tain, with, of course, a minority report for sound money. Where it is a question of the number of states, without reference to lation, the democratic convention, lik the United States senate, got up on the same plan, will give a majority for free coinage. Should the territories be given representation on the committee on resolutions, the silver preponderance will be still more marked. There are nineteen states west of the Mississippi river, and of these the platform makers from Minnesota and Iowa only can be counted on to oppose free silver. East of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio and Potomac are ten more onceded to the free silver people. North of this on the Atlantic coast are eleven oney states, sure and unway so far the count stands fifteen sound money states to twenty-five for free silver.

Cincinnati Enquirer: Some grave senators who have been discussing the Cuban ques-tion seem to think it is important for the revolutionists to have a seat of government and the usual paraphernalia of au-thority before they can hope for recogni-tion. They are incomputably more prosperous than they were under Spain. The most glorious and beneficent thing in Spanish-American his-tory was the breaking of the iron yoke of Spain. Like Spain herself, they have wars at times and internal troubles; but surely Spain's record of civil wars, insurrections, conspiracies, foreign broils and changes of government in the nineteenth century has surpassed that of any of the Spanish-American republics since they became independent. The Spanish rule has been baneful to every American country in which it has existed. The quicker it is ended in Cuba, its last foothold, the better it will be for Cuba and for all the world.

be for Cuba and for all the world.

New York Herald: The Cuban party in the senate has hauled down one flag and run up another. The color of the new one is black. There has been found a senator bold enough to stand up in the United States senate and propose an act of piracy. That and nothing less is the true meaning of the resolution which Mr. Mills, of Texas, offered yesterday. He would have the government of this country request the government of Spain to grant home rule to Cuba, and if she refuses, as she undoubtedly would, the president is then directed to take possession of the island and hold it until its 'nhabitants shall have had time to establish a government of and noid it until its intactions shall have had time to establish a government of their own and raise an army to maintain it. That is a policy of deliberate insuit to Spain. It means war and annexation and heaven knows what else.

Yesterday morning Thomas Turner, the fourteen-year-old son of a well-known painter and decorator, who resides on Marietta street, went before Governor Atkinson and made a statement about the shooting of Captain King by Carr. He was within a few feet of the two men on the fatal day and overheard the conversation immediately preceding the meeting. He was not much older than twelve years at that time and when he went home and told his parents what he had seen and heard they told him to say nothing about it. They did not want him to figure as a witness in the courts on account of his age, and the boy kept his knowledge to himself. The fact that he heard the words of the two men did not come to the ears of Carr's attorneys until after the last trial, losing to them the benefit of the evidence.

Thomas Turner's Story. When the application for a commutation affidavit signed by the boy recounting the manner of the two men when the shooting occurred was presented to the governor. At the request of the father of the condemned man Turner went before the executive yesterday morning and repeated his story of the killing. The young man talked about the case in a manner which formed favorable impression on the governor, and he stated afterwards that the evidence was mportant to the case. Turner said that when Carr approached King on Broad street that day he was near the men. Carr saw King coming out of the office of the Chattahoochee Brick Company and started toward him. The two men met on the sidewalk. The Importance of the Evidence Carr took hold of King's arm and said that he wanted to talk to him. King shoved Carr away with a rude hand. King then cursed Carr in a dreadful manner, calling him a vile name. When King cursed an abused Carr Turner says that Carr then pulled his pistol and fired at King. The language used by King at the time of the shooting has never been brought out, and the statement of Turner that it was badsufficiently so to provoke resentment weighs in favor of the murderer. If hi mind was heated and excited by the insults of King he might have shot him in the heat of passion and not deliberately. It is claimed that if the evidence on the point had been given the jury which tried Carr a recommendation of mercy would have imprisonment. After hearing the story of young Turne and several others who talked to the gov ernor during the day, the executive made up his mind to respite Carr for thirty days. Dr. Gibson, Dr. Carmichael, Dr. Atkinson, Dr. Kendall and others called on the governor during the day. The father and brother of the condemned man were there Cononel Arnold called and introduced the new witness, Turner. He also added some thing to his plea for Carr made the day

Mr. Jones at the Mansion Yesterday Rev. Sam Jones dined with Governor Atkinson at the mansior and he told the governor of the impressions he formed of Carr by his visit Tuesday afternoon. The conversation was informal and was not in the nature of a plea for the condemned man. Mr. Jones was invited to dine with the governor several days ago and yesterday was named as the day for the visit. While at the mansion the Carr case was brought up and the minister told the governor that he thought Carr of unsound mind. His view of the murderer was given in The Constitution yesterday. He says that Carr's mind appears to wander and that he is flighty in the extreme. He thinks that Carr is not responsible and that his mind is not that of a sane man by any means. His Form of Insanity Changed. The attention of the governor to the right of Carr to have another lunacy trial under the law was considered and the fact weighed in favor of prolonging the condemned man's life. Any number of trials for sanity are permissible under the law, it is claimed by attorneys, the only question being the inclination of the courts to hear the issue after it is once before them. Unless there is some pronounced change in the form of alleged insanity the application for more than one lunacy trial might be denied by the authorities and the denial would be confirmed by the higher courts. In the present case of Carr his mind has certainly undergone a remarkable change and it is now claimed that a new insanity trial before the ordinary could not be denied. The point was made to the governor by Colonel

The Respite Order.

The official order issued by Governor Atkinson reads as follows:
"State of Georgia, Executive Office, At-lanta, March 25, 1896.—To the Sheriff of Fulton County: Whereas, Alex Carr was con-victed at the fall term, 1894, of the Fulton superior court, of the crime of murder, and sentenced therefor to be executed on the 27th day of March, 1896, and,

"Whereas, An application has been made for a commutation of the sentence to life imprisonment, and in order to give time for a more thorough investigation of the case, "You are hereby directed to postpone the execution of said sentence of death upon the said Alex Carr until Friday, the 24th day of April, 1896, when, in the absence of any legal order otherwise directing, you will proceed to execute the first judgment of the court in said case. King Thought Carr Crazy.

Another bit of new evidence in the case brought to light yesterday was the receipt of a letter from Mr. A. T. Allen, of Villa Rica, with whom Captain King boarded a short time before the killing. King's mine was near that place and he and Carr worked it. Mr. Allen wrote to Colonel Arnold yesterday morning telling him about King's opinion of Carr while both were at the mina. The letter was a surprise to the attorney and he sent it to Governor The letter reads as follows:

Mr. Allen's Letter. "Villa Rica, Carroll County, Ga., March 25, 1896.—Mr. Arnold. Dear Sir: I wish to inform you of some things that I know concerning the difficulty and sad ending of the life of Captain H. O. King, who was killed in your city by the unfortunate Alex Carr.

killed in your city by the unfortunate Alex Carr.

"Captain King boarded at my house for two weeks just before he was killed. He would talk to me at night when he would return from his work at the mine. I soon found out that he was very bitter in feeling towards Carr. He would say that Carr was a strange man and that he believed him crazy or the biggest fool he ever saw. He would say that Carr was mean, and that he felt like knocking him in the head; he seemed to have a spite at the man. Now, I never saw Carr but once in my life, and that was when I carried Captain King's Now, I never saw Carr but once in my life, and that was when I carried Captain King's dinner to him one day. It was a nice vegetable dinner with a large ripe watermelon. I noticed that Captain King invited Carr to help him eat the meion. Carr came forward with a smile and I was introduced to him by Captain King. Carr was very pleasant in manner and I thought very strange of the way Captain King would talk about the man when he would come home at night. I remember that very night King said Carr was either crazy or the biggest fool he ever saw.

"I write this because I am very much impressed to do so and because I have always felt sure that Captain King was very bitter towards Carr, and that he thought him crazy. I have no interest in Carr further than to do or say all in my power to help the poor unfortunate man. I belleve truly that Captain King either believed the man crazy or had become very much disgusted with him, which caused him to curse and abuse him to me at night. Very respectfully,

"J. T. ALLEN."

WHAT DR. POWELL SAYS.

He Still Thinks Carr Insane and Tells

Why He So Believes. Milledgeville, Ga., Merch 25 .- (Special.) Dr. T. O. Pewell helds firmly to the opinion expressed by him and other experts in a remade to Governor Atkinson a few weeks ago that Alax Carr was then an insane man. He is not shaken in his convic-tions by the sensational developments made public on yesterday, but on the contrary the sudden turn of the case rather strengthas the doctor's opinion.

As soon as The Constitution containing the confession of Carr, that he had been feigning insanity, had been read your correspondent called up Dr. Powell over the telephone and asked for an interview. doctor readily consented to give his views for publication and expressed himself as

What Dr. Powell Says.

"Yes, I read carefully all of the evidence in Alex Carr's case. While I cannot say that the evidence is true at all, if it is there can be no doubt in my judgm for some time before the killing occurred, according to the evidence, hence there could not have been any motive for his feigning at that time. He entertained delusions, hal cinations and illusions and incoherence of speech, and important mental symptoms that gererally accompany insanity Suspicious of His Friends. "All of these manifestations were com tired in his case. The evidence showed ty, and at times would bar up his room with the idea that there were parties attempting to take his life. The evidence further shows that there was nothing to justify such an opinion save the action of a diseased brain. Occasionally he would get into a melancholy condition and would not speak to any one for several days at a time. He two or three standing together he imagin ed they were seeking to do him an injury.

"This was the evidence of those w knew him and were thrown with him. They had ample opportunity of observing him day and night without his knowledge. From such evidence only can we come to correct conclusions and there was an abundance of such evidence brought out in the different trials of Carr. We also examined Carr arefully on several different occasions and endeavored in every way possible to get all the facts touching his sanity or insan-

"A Hereditary Taint." "He did not indicate at any time any evidence whatever of feigning. I have no doubt but that he heard and understood everything that was said and done in his presence. There had not been any evidence whatever that he had drifted from one form of insanity to that of another, everdoing the thing, which is usually the case in feigning. The low order of intellect shown by the evidence would not justify us in my opinion that he could have simulated insanity so persistently for twelve or eighteen months. The evidence also shows that there is strong hereditary predisposition exsting in the family. While this is true, and it is very important that it should be considered, it does not necessarily follow that he himself should be insane. This irsane temperament would be much more susceptible to insanity from slight exciting causes than one entirely free from an insane temperament.

"I have never seen stronger evidence of instraity than that given in Carr's case. Therefore I am firmly of the opinion that he was then and is now insane." Dr. Powell Interested.

Dr. Powell real the accounts of Carr' sudden confession with keen interest, and sudden confession with keen interest, and when he had finished was ready to give an expression of his judgment. He will await other developments in this wonderful case with the firm conviction that his own and the judgment of the learned insanity experts associated with him on the commission will have complete vindication.

If Progreso Italo Americana, an Italian paper of New York, to raise funds for the Italians who are suffering on account of the Abyssinian war has reached Atlanta and a fund is now being raised to be sent that paper for distribution in the mother country.

The initiative step was taken by Signor Randegrat, of this city, and he has issued the following letter, which will be sent to all the Italians now resident of the city:

"Italian! In the hour of sorrow which our beloved far country is coing through let us be united and let us try to help, in the limit of our powers, those who presently bewail one of their family, a dear one fallen on the battle field. It is a debt we owe to the citizens who fought, perishing in the name of Italy.

"Probably in the moment that the enemy's lance ran through the heart of the brave soldier he sent, together with his extreme breath, his last greeting to his mother country—to his beloved ones.

"Italian, let us give a material aid to those families, whether small or great, that our offer may be a part of a sum which we hope will become large and that offer, however it may be, shall be the expression of our gratefulness to the valiant dead ones.

G. A. RANDEGGER."

The responses to Signor Randegger's letter have been highly gratifying. He has succeeded in having quite a neat sum subscribed.

succeeded in having quite a neat sum sub-scribed.

Subscriptions are being collected by Sig-nor Fiacearini, who is actively engaged in the work of carrying relief to the families of the fallen heroes in the feaful struggle. The amount has been daily increasing and in a short time will be forwarded to Il Progreso Italo Americano for distri-bution.

Mr. J. T. Harper, superIntendent of electric affairs, accompanied by two or three members of the general council committee, made a tour of inspection of the lights of the city yesterday.

A visit was made to that section of the city which was charged with electricity, and the situation discussed. Points needing lights were sought, and it will be a big report the committee will put in next year.

the inmates of the building. Young women, old women, matrons and girls to the number of eight thousand swarmed into the tabernacle yesterday afernoon to hear Rev. Sam Jones in his spe-on the top of the Equitable building for cial sermon for the women of Atlanta. It was a striking service. The preache talked of organized effort among women and pointed out the great good wome could do for Christianity and humanity by banding themselves together.

He made a special appeal for the Salvation Army and urged the women to join the Salvation Army auxiliary which is being formed in Atlanta. He said he liked the "red-shirted fellows" who were laboring earnestly and aggressively for the cause of Christ. The appeal was effective, as fifty new names were added to the list of members of the auxiliary.

Mr. Jones began his sermon by saying: "Not a service we have held is more farreaching and all encompassing than the one which brings us together this afternoon as wives, mothers and daughters.

"I believe in organization. It is useless to talk about perpetuating work without organization. No political party has power without it. The church is an organization for good in the world. I want to talk along lines in which women have organized them-selves for Christian work.

"First, I wish to speak of their international organizations, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is the first of which I will speak. None but God can tell what that organization has done for America. This is a drunkard-making country. More lives are ruined and more souls are wrecked in America than in any country in the world. Atlanta has got five saloons to each woman engaged in Christian temperance one woman engaged in this specific temperance work. If the saloon is set against anything, it is set against woman's peace, prosperity and happiness. Every saloo sign is an insult to every good woman. What should be thought of a woman who has not courage enough to put her efforts in the work to rid the country of the thing that blights every woman? Yet it is not thought to be the right thing for a woman to set herself bravely against this blighting curse. Yet it is right to belong to the Capital City Club, where whisky flows like water over a mill dam.
"Make it fashionable and all of them will join. Make it fashionable to read ten chapters in the Bible a day and the old Peachtree sisters will fly off the roost before daylight and go to reading-they had just about as soon be dead as to be out of the fashion. A lady said to me the other day: I want you to get the ladies of the I saw some the other day I wanted to dress. (Great Laughter.) You brethren keep quiet," continued Mr. Jones; "you've got no business here, anyhow. "Atlanta with her two hundred and fifty saloons ought to have 5,000 women at work for temperance instead of fifteen or twenty-women that you could call with a blast of the trumpet and would come bravely into the fight. In Monroe, La., when we got there liquor had the town. We preached to the people seven days, organized five or six hundred women for Christian temper-ance work. Six months after we left I received a letter saying that the saloons had been voted out of the city by an overwhelm-ing majority. Come together, my sisters, and see to it that liquor shall go out of this city. The council of Atlanta can be affected by the influence and the prayers of Christian women. Never hold up; be like the good sister who said, 'Lord, if I ever get to heaven, you'll never hear the last Appeal for the Salvation Army. "I want to talk to you next about the lo-cal auxiliary of the Salvation Army. There are two things I have never spoken against. I have never uttered a word against wo-man's working in any line of Christian effort, whether preaching, praying or speaking in public; the other is the Salva-tion Army.

"I believe in these red-shirted fellows.

No institution in America has more genu-ine religion, and if our Christian churches had their aggression we would take this town for God in three weeks. People run together-there is the Peachtree circle, the Capitol avenue circle, Washington street circle, and so people will run in their little circles. You'll find in the church the same little circles. Certain sets visit one another who have the same amount of money and blue blood, and so you are estimated according to the house you live in, or the street you live on, or the style you go in. But good, old-fashioned religion will make the poor and the rich and the midde class all love each other.
"If my wife didn't belong to the auxiliary of the Salvation Army I would take her off and say, 'Wife, haven't you backslid! Haven't you grown cold?' This is a live city and the livest thing in it is the Salva tion Army.

"Now, when your name goes down or this paper, you are taking care of men who are devoting their lives to rescuing the fallen. I have been the friend of these people everywhere and I have raised money to help them in many places where I have

"There are no less than fifteen hundred women that are rulned in this city. Every rulned woman is not only a wreck herself, but is a menace to every home in this city, and no true Christian woman can hold her and no true Christian woman can hold her peace when work like that is going on. A lost woman is the hardest of all beings to bring back to purity and virtue, and when she is brought back, it is a difficult job to keep her true. But there is no more Christlike work that this. Of all the blighted characters none are more literally drowned in sin than the lost women of this city, and there is a no more delicate task than that of rescuing them."

Behalf of Working Girls. "I wish to speak next of one of the grand-est institutions I ever saw, a home for work-ing girls. Wages have been reduced so low that a girl can scarcely earn a living. You need in this city a girls' boarding house, where they will be protected in their character, have nice rooms and good asso-ciations; where a girl getting $20 would pay $8 for board, and a girl getting $8 would have to pay $3. I know men in Atlanta who might give the highest expression of love to God they could show to the world if they would build such a house. They could not spend their money better. Mother, think of yourself, should adverse circumstances come and your husband die. Your little Mary would be pushed out on the world, out fito some boarding house expos-ed to temptation and sin. Oh, Mary, Mary, Mary. Ten thousand Marys in America have descended to Mary Magdalena.

A Methodist by Heredity. "You Baptist, Presbyterian and Method-ist women should stand by your church work. I belong to this latter crowd. I am not to blame. I was born one got it by hereditary, as the old brother said. My mother, father, grandfather, clean back to Adam were Methodists. Adam was a Mr. Stuart arose at the conclusion of Rev. Sam Jones's talk and gave a five minutes' talk At the First Methodist

The morning crowd at the First Metho dist church packed the building, aisles, galleries and all. The meeting was one of the most impressive yet held. It took the turn of an experience meeting, and many of the prominent citizens of the city arose and spoke with great feeling. Rev. Walker Lewis, D.D., led in a fer-vent prayer. Mr. Jones then began the service. He said:

"A gentleman once told me that he was led to a life of usefulness by his listening to a man relating his experience on a train. He said: 'I was riding on a train when two men came in and began to curse and talk, and talk and curse. I thought if they could curse for the devil I could sing for God. I began to sing. They said, "Stop that singing." I said, "Stop that cursing." Finally the conductor came in and put them off.' The devil's crowd is not ashamed; why should we be? "I want every child of God that is not scared to say a word for the Master today. If any are scared, let them get under the benches. Come to the front. 'Ye are my Here a gentleman arose and said: "The Lord has blessed me. I know He loves

"That's the kind of experience," said Mr. Jones. "I don't like the hope-so religion; the 'hope-I-have-got-a-hope' sort. Some of the happiest experiences I have ever had were under pressure. Another lady spoke out and said: "My prayer to God is that this city shall be brought to Christ." A brother suddenly spoke out: "Thank God, I am saved!"

Conductor Waite, of the Georgia Pacific, arose in the gallery at this point and said "I know I have been converted, and I have the witness of the spirit of God. I have gone out and made friends with those I thought I'd never speak to again."
"I have been praying for four years," said Rev. Mr. Stanton, "for the Lord to bless this town, and He has heard my prayers."

Then a beautiful young woman arose and said: "God has blessed my soul."

An old man got up, trembling with emotion, and said: "I am happler than I ever was in my life before."

A middle-aged man spoke out next: "I commenced to serve God when I was a boy, and He has never forsaken me."

A middle-aged lady arose and said: "I think I ought to be happy. One of my boys has been converted, and my husband and other boy are deeply moved."

A wife said: "My husband is a druggist; has been sening soda water and cigars on Sunday, but says he will never do so again."

"Friends, pray for me!"
A young man said: "I was saved two weeks ago as the meeting for men only."
Major Sloan, of Manchester, spoke out with strong voice: "I magnify the cause of Christ on earth and honor you, Mr. Jones, as one of his best generals."

Here Mr. Jones said: "We are largely indebted to Brother Cofer, General Evans and Brother Atkinson for this meeting. They put up the money to buy the tabernacle." Colonel W. A. Hemphill said: "I move we give them a rising vote of thanks." Mr. Jones put the vote and the whole audience stood up.

Mr. Patterson said: "Twenty-four years ago I joined the church. I have not done much, and am very weak, but I love God and the church."

Colonel Hemphill then rose and said: "I want to thank God for what he has done for me and my home. We have moved up at my house, wife, myself, children and ail."

Paster Doneldson of the Fifth Rentist Pastor Donaldson, of the Fifth Baptist, said: "If we would just unite Baptist water and Methodist fire we could run the old gospel engine without much trouble."

the old gospel engine without much trouble."

A society lady said next: "Thank God, He has delivered me from fashion's follies." Mr. Jones added: "This is what many of these sisters need."

A proposition was then made for all who had been blessed or benefitted by the meeting to rise. Nearly all arose.

Mr. Stuart then took charge of the meeting and invited the unconverted to come to the altar. The chancel was soon thronged and tears and prayers mingled. It was a rare sight to see such demonstrations in a rich and fashionable church. Many had never seen such before.

Sam Jones at Night.

Sam Jones preached a sermon last night on, "After Death, What?." His text was the words of Christ: "These shall go away into everlasting punishment, but the righteous into life eternal."

The sermon was intensely solemn. Not a humbrous anecdote broke the spell of seriousness that rested on the crowd. The congregation was powerfully stirred under the solemn appeal. Hundreds and hundreds went forward for prayer. In the crowd were some of the most prominent citizens of Atlanta. Over fifty joined the church. It was a sight such as many said they never saw before.

The people were nearly one hour in coming to the front to shake the hand of the evangelist.

AUXILIARY OF THE SALVATION ARMY FULLY ORGANIZED.

Sam Jones Adds Many New Members to the Rell-Election of Officers Next Week.

The movement to organize a local auxiliary of the Salvation army is about to materialize. The membership roll is growing every day and by next week the officers will have been elected and the organization placed on a sound basis.

Mrs. John King Ottley, Mrs. A. E. Buck and Miss Annie Wallace are at the head of the movement and they have succeeded in enlisting some of the most prominent ladies and gentlemen in Atlanta in the good work. The local Salvation army is greatly encouraged over the present prospects, and the fact that they will not be hampered in the future by the lack of funds will prompt them to greater efforts. Sam Jones made an effective appeal at the tabernacle yesterday afternoon for this movement, and as a result about fifty tells the story of the trial held yester-day:

"Sandersville, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—Robert Lapaesh and Mrs. Elizabeth Noonan, arraigned in county court on the charge of adultery, pleaded guilty and asked Judge Allen to be as lenient as justice could allow. After lecturing upon the gravity of the offense, and in consideration of the fact that Lapaesh is a native of France and unfamiliar with the laws of our country, he fined the man $30 or nine months in the chaingang and the woman 10 or six months in the chaingang. Under the circumstances the sentence was considered very light. The prisoners were remanded to jail and are still there. An offer was made to advance the money to pay their fines, but Mrs. Noonan says she will wait to get money from relatives at he north and Lapaesh refuses to leave Jail while the woman is confined. T. F. Noonan, the husband, gained possession of his child in the habeas corpus proceedings before Ordinary Newman and will have nothing more to do with his wife, who has been unfaithful to him. If the convicted couple do not soon pay their fines they will have to accept the alternative of the sentence and go to work at Jackson's camp."

London bought moderate ounts of its favorites, and this, with slightly higher prices from abroad and the belief that the present situation of the ted States as effecting the outside world had improved, assisted the rise which took place in the general list. The greatest gains were made in the Industrials. Chicago Gas advanced a point to 67%, on the reports that the directors intended to resume the payments of dividends. Tobacco, after an early decline from 83 to 82½, rose to 84 and closed at 83½. The story in the board was that the directors at their meeting in Wednesday next will declare a dividend on the common stock. Nothing official could be obtained. The reports about a consoliutside manufacturers were again revived and vigorously denied by the western people, who are not in the combination. It has been remarked that the American tobacco directors are singu-larly quiet about the matter. Sugar first fell % to 114 and rose 115%@115. General Electric was firmer, and ranged between 35 and 35%. The railway list was firm, but the variations were merely fractional. St. Paul was strengthened by the increase in its earnings for the chird week of March of nearly $116,000. Louisville and Nashville advanced within a fraction of 50 on pir-chases by London houses. Speculation closed firm with prices anywhere from 1/6/4/ per cent higher on the day. Bonds were higher. The sales footed up

New York, March 25.—The beginning of the regular settlement in London has brought no perceptible increase in business. The check to general trade resulting from disturbed politics is reflected in general quietude in the market. A feature of special interest in American Tobacco yesterday was buying by certain St. Louis houses. Some well-informed people thought it might be only covering, be-cause it is known that a large short in-terest on St. Louis account exists. On the other hand, the mere fact that St. Louis buys at all, even to cover, is taken as an indication of a pending change in the situation. A usually well-informed authority tells us that the delay in announcing a dividend on the stock is the result of uncertainty in the trade situation. It is admitted that a dividend will not be declared unless the Tobacco people see a near ter-mination of the tobacco war, and there-fore the declaration of a dividend may be taken to mean a more or less definite un derstanding. The amount of the dividend is confidently stated to have been determined, and that it could be announced & t any time. The short interest is still said the company in various states, which they say is almost as disastrous from a trade standpoint as the war with competitors. Nevertheless the sentiment is less bullish among most of the houses which trade in

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, March 25.—The probable increase in the amount of cotton coming into sight this week as compared with 1893 (80,000 to 85,000 bales, against 60,000 to 65,000 bales) had the effect of causing a lower Liverpool market, and the estimate of shipments to that market from India, aggregating 225,000 bales this season, did not tend to improve the situation. Locally, our market has relapsed into natural duliness, arising from the absence of any outside demand for cotton, and the continued advices of milis closing down and large failures in commercial and manufacturing circles. The local trade, however, received such a severe shaking up from the advance of last week, which caught them short, that they are not disposed to anticipate any sharp break in prices, because of the possibility of another movement based on the small visible supply. This spirit of extreme conservatism, born of the severe losses, checks trading for either side of the account, but the main factors of trade and crop as yet show no encouragement for a permanent advance. Our market closed quiet and steady with little disposition to anticipate any material decline, because of the expected large clearances from our stock of cotton. These shipments will be chiefly to Liverpool, which were made on the recent advance and which enabled shippers to obtain orders at a better basis than for some time. Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter. Riordan & Co's Cotton Letter.

New York, March 25.—(Special.)—Another break of about 3-64d in Liveroopl, doleful accounts of the utter absence of demand for cotton in New Orleans, staggering figures telling or the enormous shipment of fertilizers from Charleston and cheerful accounts of the improvement in weather conditions all ever the cotton belt formed a combination of depressing influence today too strong for the bulls to withstand and prices gradually yielded. May opened at 7.56 and declined to 7.51, closing at the lowest with the tone quiet. May, which has lately been quoted on a parity with August, was the weaker month of the two today, the difference in prices ranging from 1 to 3 points. The talk is that the long interest in May is a pretty big one and the liquidation of May contracts is likely to be at the expense of values. Matever support the market had today came from the covering of the shorts.

Auction Sale of Dress Ginghams. New York, March 25.—Wilmerding, Morris & Mitchell, auctioneers, of 66 White street, sold today, under orders from the Westbrook Manufacturing Company, nearly 4,500,609 yards of dress ginghams. There were 1,800 cases, 2,200 yards to the case, divided into 194 lots. According to the were 1,800 cases, 2,200 yards to the case, divided into 194 lots. According to the auctioneers prices ruled low. An average rate of 4 cents per yard was realized. The goods were of stable design, in light, and dark of staple design, in light and dark The sale began at 11 o'clock. The auc-

The Dry Goods Market.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, March 25.—There was a better attendance of buyers in the dry goods market today than for some time past, a number being drawn here by the auction sale of ginghams. The competition proved languid, and the average of prices realized low, and buyers around the market appeared to be less desirous of making purchases than of posting themselves as well as they could on the general situation. The tone at first hands continues duli throughout, and outside of some specialities the market is more or less in favor of buyers.

New York, March 25.—Cotton declined $69 points on the near months and 465 points on the later. The close was quiet, with sales of 124,000 baies.

Today's Features—The small spot sales in Liverpool, lower prices there for futures, improved weather conditions at the south, selling for Liverpool, southern and German account, the failure of a large dry goods house at Galveston, the duliness of the speculation here and at New Orleans, weaker spot markets, and adverse reports from Fall River and Providence, all combined to depress prices here. Reports of immense sales of fertilizers were received from Charleston. The new crop months showed the most weakness. Shorts covered to some extent, and their buying was the only support the market received. Greek houses bought.

quickly absorbed and prices advanced %c. An elevator interest was the large buyer, early purchases being estimated at 2,000,000 bushels. This changed the local sentiment and scalpers seemed disposed to take the long side. The very light clearances, less than 100,000 busnels, later encougaged selling, which, coming upon the market at a time the demand had subsided, caused the advance to be lost. This, however, proved only temporary, the market becoming firm on the big decrease of 3,700,000 busnels in the world's visible. This was about 2,000,000 larger than estimated. The effect was unfavorable to bears, who are very persistent in their efforts to depress prices. The financial situation has favored them, but so far their efforts to sustain any decline below 62%c has proved an utter failure, and unless they change tactics their profits derived from a 6c decline will go with the beautiful snow. Europe wants wheat, and if she could not buy our silver so cheap and use it to buy wheat elsewhere wheat would be at least 32 per cent higher.

Cern and oats were a triffe higher. The light receipts, notwithstanding the favorable weather for moving, were the factors.

Large receipts of hogs caused fresh liqyi dation in provisions, but the closing was firmer at about yesterday's final figures. Packers were good buyers on the decline.

Wheat is breaking on small clearances.
Very little outside buying.

Total clearances of wheat and flour equal 94,000 bushels of wheat; corn 170,000. Bradstreet's wheat estimates decrease 1,227,000 bushels; Europe and afloat decrease 2,480,000; world's decrease 3,700,000. There was a rush at the opening to liquidate long provisions and every thing acted weak. Packers have been buyers on breaks. Foreigners were free sellers. Baldwin was a large buyer of July ribs. Northwestern receipts 522 cars, against 413 last week and 318 last year. Expectation is that the world's visible today will decrease 1,500,000. Last year it decreased 2,800,000.

The Crop Outlook.

S. Thornton K. Prime in The New York Stockhold's. The whole country from the far north-west to the Ohio river since I last wrote you on the 11th instant has again been plunged into the depths of winter.

Not so much by the severity of the weather, but on account of a widespread snowstorm, varying all the way from four to six inches in depth. These conditions came at a time when a very large portion of the country was just preparing to go to work and commence the seeding of spring grain. Now everything for the time being is completely upset and we are watching and waiting for the snow to go off the ground, to dry up, so that we can commence the first great spring work of the season, namely the putting in of the oat crop. on the 11th instant has again been plunged the season, namely the putting in of the oat crop.

Very few except those who have a practical knowledge have the slightest idea of the immense benefit from a financial standpoint that the oat crop has been to the country during the last five or six years. Until the past season oats have been a very remunerative crop. One also which could be put into the ground, harvested and marketed with very little trouble and brought money to the farmer just at the time he needed it most.

The wonderful changes which have taken place in locomotion and the substitution of other motive powers than horses have given the demand for oats a very black eye, and from present appearances it looks now as if the time was very far distant when the farmer would realize in the future what he has in the past for his oats. These facts will probably tell very decidedly against the acreage of the cats during the coming season.

facts will probably tell very decidedly against the acreage of the cats during the coming season.

The crop was so large last season and prices so low that farmers have not sold anything like the quantity of oats as in former seasons. There is a much larger proportion of oats on hand this spring than is usual.

"Vinter Wheat—With the changeable March weather, the general lack of sunshine and the recent snowfall, winter wheat so far has made very little growth and shows but little sign of life. The snow which has just fallen has proved of incalculable benefit to the growing crop.

It has given it plenty of moisture, it has protected it from the sudden changes in the weather and acted as well as a stimulant. Hence, I feel quite nopeful that upon the return of mild, growing weather we shall see quite an improvement in the crop since w) last saw it.

Kansas feels quite hopeful that she is going to make a first-class crop of winter wheat this season. Kat sas, however, is a very peculiar state and you never can calculate upon her crop until it is harvested and housed. Reports from Missouri on winter wheat are not so flattering. In Illinois and Indiana the crop is fairly good. In Ohlo, where the lands are not as strong, there the crop seems to be more or less spotted. I have nothing yet of a definite to the slightest danger. In person she is a fine type of Ethiopian beauty, with sensuous lips and wonderfully fascinating black eyes. She dresses in the Ethiopian garb and follows Ethiopian cus-toms. Her only weakness for things Eurepean is for champagne. Since she first tasted champagne two years ago her appe-lite for it has continued to increase and so has her love for warfare. She is enormously rich and has used her influence over the Ethiopian leaders to acquire large estates. She fully realizes that Italian success means confiscation of these estates, and acsiderable sums of money in European banks to provide for the worst.

Mrs. Custer Lectures.

General Custer's widow, a brilliant and talented woman as her writings have shown, has recently been lecturing for the benefit of a charity and has attracted the attention of the newspapers thereby. A newspaper woman who reported her lecture

"Mrs. Custer, who is still a woman of remarkable beauty, appeared upon the platform in a plain, close fitting dress of black crepon, with short white cuffs and a plain white collar. She wore no jewelry or ornaments, and looked better without them. Her theme was 'A Woman's Experie Hunting Bison.' It was a little chat of her

LECTURES ON THE PLAINS life on the frontier in the company of her husband. Mrs. Custer is a born orator. Her voice is clear and melodious and her enunciation perfect. She has a most engaging presence and emphasizes her strong points with graceful gestures of her hands and eloquent facial lights and shadows. Her talk was interesting from beginning to end and was listened to by a very appre ciative audience."

The accompanying picture is made from the one which was used with this report and it is evident, therefore, that the New York artist failed in his task if, as is written, Mrs. Custer is beautiful, but it is given here with the idea that it will give an idea of this woman's features.

On Necks and Neckwear.

Long necks, short necks, thin necks and fat necks, all adorned with the same style of stock collar, is a sight to make one weep for the lack of originality in the feminine world. Women whose chins are manifold and women of giraffe-like throats both wear the folded or shirred bands of velvet or satin with the inevi-

For the woman whose neck is long and thin the stock collar has a multitude of charms. The soft folds serve to give a of necks. The projecting loops and ro-settes at the sides take from the longdrawn-out effect. But on a short woman whose chin melts by gentle gradations into her neck nothing could be worse. If she must wear a stock collar—as fashion seems to decree that she must at any rate on street gowns—let her see that it is set as low upon the bodice as possible Let her also arrange that it be no deeper than necessity requires, and let her, if she has the faintest artistic sense, avoid projections on the sides, which have the effect of broadening the neck and face. All trimming on the stout woman's collar should be massed at the back. Moreover plaids are not for her, or any other very conspicuous style of material. No stout woman who wears a high col-lar upon an indoor gown should be forgiven the crime. Necessity excuses the violation of aesthetics upon street frocks, but there is no apology for it upon house frocks. Bodices may be finished at the top with narrow ruchings of soft lace sew-ed within the edge. Or some of the numerous fichus in vogue just now may finish the frock with their slightly de-collete folds edged with deep frills of chiffon or lace. Deep sailor and Van Dyke collars of embroidery with no stand-ing collar are also effective. But anything that swathes the neck or adds to the apparent size of the chin by massing material beneath it is not permissible.

Even poor necks are susceptible of im provement. Massage does wonders for the long throat and the one with superabundant flesh. A daily oil massage last-ing fifteen minutes or so will eventually hide the bones of the one and alcohol massage will reduce the other. Double and triple chins are said to disappear under the heroic "no pillow" treatment, and it is certain that the feminine head rises from the feminine shoulders with much more grace and dignity when their owner sleeps with her head elevated not at all.

One of the most delightful children's par ties ever given in Atlanta was that at the handsome home of Judge and Mrs. Henry B. Tompkins, on Peachtree. The affair was in the honor of their daughter, little Miss Janet Tompkins, and some seventy house was brightly and artistically decor ated with flowers and vines. The dining room was cleared and given over to dancposite the table was set in the shape of a "T." Its decorations were pink azalias and pink candy, while in the center was the big birthday cake, with its ten candles telling the age of the little hostess. The walls here were hung with pink muslin, caught with bamboo vines. A game was played, at the end of which each little played, at the end of which each little guest was blindfolded in turn and allowed to pick one gift out of a big basket, and many were the pretty things acquired this way and great was the happiness they brought to the merry company. The little hostess—a beautiful child, with the dark eyes of a poet—received her friends dark eyes of a poet-received her friends in a beautiful frock of pink silk with a picturesque lace collar. She was assisted picturesque lace collar. She was assisted in entertaining by her younger sister, Miss Bessie Tompkins, who was pretty in a dress of cream colored silk, trimmed with Miss Janet received many lovely gifts Miss Janet received many lovely gifts from her little friends. At the close of the entertainment the big birthday cake was cut and the slice cut by Miss May Scott contained a beautiful ring, while it fell to Miss Donna Bain's lot to cut the slice in whose sweet toothsomeness a silver thimble was imbedded. The company departed, all in the happiest humor and all

Atlanta is fortunate in not only posses ing so many beautiful women of her own, but having as guests in the city the beau-tiful women of Macon. Mrs. Lee Jordan's visits to Atlanta are always the occasion of many tributes to her beauty. Miss Willingham is the center of a brilliant throng of admirers when here, and at present Mrs. Ovid Sparks and Mrs. Eugene Harris are receiving charming attentions in the social world. They are representatives of two distinct types of womanly beauty. Mrs. Sparks is blond with the gold-tinted hair that brings out the clearness of her soft gray eyes and delicately-tinted complexion. She has a superb figure and received the secretary of the secretary in the secretary of the secretary in the secretary of the secretary is the secretary of the secretary in the secretary of the secretary is secretary in the secretary in the secretary in the secretary in the secretary is secretary in the secretary in the secretary in the secretary is secretary in the ure and wears her stylish and always appropriate gowns with that grace and ease that make the American woman the favored subject of the Parisian modistes. She retains the brightnes and magnetism that were hers when, as Miss Daisy Huff, she was one of the belles of Georgia.

Mrs. Harris is of a type that seems to combine all the charms of the patrician Irish beauty with the piquancy of the French woman. She has wavy, dark brown hair, combed smoothly back from a beautiful forehead. Her eyes of blue-gray are shaded with heavy black lashes, and her brows are dark and arched with a delicate precision that is unusual and always beautiful. In repose her face bears an expression that suggests almost sadness, but at once her smile is one that is so brilliant and beaming it creates an atmosphere of happiness about her. She possesses, too, that greatest of womanly charms—a voice of exquisite purity and sweetness.

The wedding of Mr. John Tullis, of Eufala, Ala., and Miss Alice Haltiwanger will be a brilliant after-Easter social event. The wedding will be solemnized at St. Luke's cathedral, where the decorations will be entirely of pure white, bride roses, lilies and carnations to be the flowers used. Mr. Tullis will bring his groomsmen from Alabama; the ushers will be from Atlanta, and the bridesmaids from among the pret-tiest of Atlanta girls. They are Miss An-nie Mays, who will act as maid of honor; Misses Alice May Wing, Daisy Spalding, Janie Kingberry and Ruth Holliday. The best man will be Mr. William McElroy, of Anniston, Ala. The groomsmen will be Messrs Field, Foy, Roberts and Jennings, of Alabama, and Messrs. Richard Bell, Mays Ball and Arthur Haltiwanger, of At-

Hugh Foreman, Jack Cutter and Dr. Elkin. The wedding will be of social importance, not only in Alabama and Georgia, but South Carolina, where the bride numbers among her relatives the most aristocratic and distinguished families of that state. She is a great granddaughter of Governor Pickens, who was for a number of years minister to Austria and one of the most brilliant statesmen of his day. She is a neice of Senator But-ler and inherits much of the beauty for which her mother's family, the Lipscomb were famous. She is of the brunette type and has a rarely sweet nature, that with her refinement and dignity make her one of the most attractive of women. Miss Haltiwanger's wedding gown will be of ivory white satin of simple elegance: Her bridesmaids will wear white or gandle and carry bride roses.

Tuesday morning Mrs. McElvin enter-tained the Whist Club at an elegant card party. Today Mrs. Vassar Wooley entertains a party of twelve ladies at luncheon in honor of Mrs. Andrew Lipscomb. Tonight Messrs. Joseph M. and George M. Brown and Dr. Connally leave for a

ABOUT COAL

It Was Spelled in the Seventeenth Century "Cole."

Coal in its most general sense includes all varieties of carbonaceous minerals used as fuels. In old English writings the terms The root kol is common to all teutonic nations, while in French and other Roman languages derivities of the Latin carbo are In France and Belgium a peculiar word, comille, is most generally used. Nearly up to the seventeenth century the word was spelled "cole," when it was gradually superceded by the modern form coal.

The classification of the different kinds of coal taken from the coal fields are to be considered from various points of view, such as their chemical composition, their behavior when subjected to heat or when burnt, and their geological position and origin. They all contain carbon, hydrogen, oxygen and nitrogen, for there the carbonaccous or combustible portion and some quantity of mineral matter, which remains quantity of mineral matter, which remains after combustion as a residue or "ash," commonly called "ashes."

The most important class of coals is that generally known as bituminous, from their property of softening or undergoing an apparent fusion when heated to a temperature far below that at which actual combustion takes place.

ture far below that at which actual combustion takes place.

The proportion of carbon in bituminous coals may vary from 80 to 90 per cent. The amount of hydrogen is from 4½ to 6 per cent, Coals richer in hydrogen, on the other hand, are more useful and desirable for burning in open fires. The Kentucky Jellico coal might well be mentioned in this connection, as it possesses all the necessary good qualities and has no superior for gratts, stoves, open fireplaces, etc. Mr. George P. Howard is the one whom you should telephone to if you wish the best that can be had anywhere.

TO SELL THE STOCK

Assets of the Stilson-Collins Company Will Be Sold on April 15th.

THE NEWS OF THE COURTS

The Furniture in the Hotel Jackson Will Be Sold Today by Sheriff Barnes.

The stock of goods of the Stilson-Collins Jewelry Company will be sold under an order of the court on April 15th and the goods will be delivered to the purchasers as soon as the sale can be confirmed by the superior court, under whose direction the sale is to be conducted.

The litigation originally found its way into the courts through a petition which was filed by the Gorham Manufacturing Company, and later on several other creditors filed interventions asking to be made parties in the suit. The last of the creditors to intervene in the case was the Capital City bank. The petition of the bank was filed last Friday afternoon in the office of the clerk of the superior court and the bank was made a party to the suit on an order which was granted by Judge Lumpkin.

In the petition of the bank many allegations were made which have since been denied by the owners of the Stilson-Collins Jewelry Company. Among other things which were charged, the bank al-leged that money had been diverted from the business and had been used for the individual benefit of Mr. Collins. The wording of the petition was brought to the attention of Mr. W. R. Collins and he was surprised that any alleged charges of fraud should have been made.

The matter was called to the attention of Mr. Haas, of the Capital City bank, and he stated that he had no intention of charging either Mr. Collins or Mr. Stilson with fraud or criminal conduct, but the intervention in the case was simply a matter of business and he as an officer of the bank was only taking what steps he thought were legitimate to protect the interests of the bank.

Mr. W. R. Collins, one of the largest olders in the company, has stated that he did only what he thought was right in the conduct of the business of his house and at no time had any idea of defrauding either the bank or any other one of the creditors of the corporation. The entire stock of goods of the company will be sold to the highest bidder, subject to confirmation by the court, on April 15th, and the liabilities will be wound up.

A Settlement Has Been Effected. The litigation which was brought by the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, of Cincinnati, against the Jackson Hotel Company, has been settled and the bar and fixtures will be returned to the Cincinnati house today.

The bar fixtures were sold to the hotelmpany when the house was opened by Mr. Camp. The company selling the fixtures held a claim for the payment of the purchase money. When the hotel com-pany failed to make the payments on the fixtures as they fell due, the Cincinnati house took cut a bail trover for the goods, claiming that they were sold under that condition.

The Jackson estate immediately filed a claim to the goods, stating that the fix-tures were subject to the debts owed the estate, as the bar and fixtures had become a part of the building and were permanent.

The matter was carried into the courts and it was not until yesterday that a set-tlement was reached. This morning the bar and fixtures will be taken out and shipped to the Brunswick-Balke-Collendar Company, in Cincinnati. The Cincinnati firm was represented by Glenn & Roun

The furniture in the Jackson hotel will be sold this morning under an order of the court. Sheriff Barnes will conduct the sale, which will be made to the highest bidder. The furniture was bought by the hotel company from Brown, Bradbury & Catlett, and has been levied on as the property of that firm and also the Jackson estate has levied a distress warrant upon the goods.

Closed by the Sheriff. The saloon of A. O. Harris, at 98 Decatur street, was closed yesterday morning by Sheriff Barnes under a mortgage fi fa. which was recently issued in favor of Bluthenthal & Blckart.
The amount of the fl fa. was $1,008, and was levied upon the stock of wines, liquors and other property in the build-ing.

Crossley says that it was a three-hundred-dollar bond he gave for his appearance in court and not one for $200, as stated. He says that the only reason he gave bond without going through a trial Tuesday was to keep his name out of the courts. He says that the case against him will be settled out of court by his paying for the missing ring. He did not plead guilty.

THE LAW AND THE ROADS.

THE LAW AND THE ROADS.

Some Interesting Points Ruled on by Courts in Different States.

In Missouri a railroad owned an open el vated track, upon which cars were run for the purpose of transferring grain to other cars on the track below, such work being done in the daytime by an independent contractor, and it was the custom for dedendant's trainmen to remove at night the cars so loaded. Plaintiff, a foreman of defendant, while engaged with a crew in removing such cars, stepped on a grain door lying on a walk beside the track and was injured. Other crews were employed in doing the same kind of work, and other railroads had tracks adjoining defendant's. No one had ever seen a grain door on the way before. This one had no mark on it, and it was not shown how it came there. supreme court rules that an instruction that the jury might find that the door was placed on the way by the contractor or his employes was error

In West Virginia it is said that a minor red as a railroad hand, has a right to rely on the superior skill and knowledge which both were riding to be propelled round a curve without ascertaining if a train was coming, as required by the rules of the company, and cannot be harged with contributory negligence in case of death by collision on the curve.

In Kentucky a railroad is bound by the action of the conductor of a train in employing one to couple the cars thereof, during which operation such person is injured.

In Iowa a finding that deceased, a section hand in the employ of a railroad, was rightfully on the track a killing on the section. rightfully on the track when killed, is not supported by evidence that his day's work was done, and he was going home, merely because his foreman had told him any time he was going over the road to notice the track closely, and if anything was found wrong to let him know.

court of appeals of Texas lave it down that where the dangers consequent upon pegligence of an employer in having work done in an unusual and dangerous manner are apparent to a person of ordinary intelligence, an employe engaging voluntarily in the work assumes the risk of injury from these causes.

In Texas plaintiff alleged that he was or-ered by his foreman to sit in the rear of a hand car under the brake handles, that the car was being run very rapidly; that plaintiff was ordered to rise and take hold of the brake nandles while they were moving; that it was impossible for him to do so without being struck by the handles, and that plaintiff did not know the danger of obeying such orders, but the forem in did. Plaintiff was struck by the moving brake handles. The court of arpeals holds that the facts alleged do not constitute a cause of action, as, the danger being apparent, plaintiff executed the orders at his own

In Iowa it is held that where the engineer of a train saw children ahead, in a dan-gerous position, on a bridge having two tracks, knew that another train was close behind on the other track, and that the place to stand on the bridge between the two tracks was less than three feet, having a plank walk one foot wide, the jury is jus-tified in finding him negligent for not stop-ping his train when he could have done so, although he thought the children would go on the plank walk.

HALF-FARE CLERGY TICKETS.

A Decision Handed Down Regarding

Their Redemption. Chairman Caldwell, of the Western Pas-senger Association, has handed down a de-cision in regard to the redemption of halfclergy tickets that shows that he is willing to go to his utmost in his purpose of maintaining rates. The ruling was made at the instance of the Santa Fe railroad. A ticket of its issue had been found on the A ticket of its issue had been found on the market at I enver and presented for redemption. It was originally supposed to be a clergy ticket, but in the end turned out to have been issued to a politician. In call ing the attention of the chairman to the matter the Santa Te road pointed out that half-fare clergy tickets were accepted for transportation over its lines only when the certificates on which they were issued were presented along with them. This being so, brokers could not handle them with any prospect of success, and their purchases for redemption purposes at full rates was a hardship which should not be 'nflicted. The chairman could not take this view of the case. He held that such tickets were redeemable at full tariff rates. In doing so he also let it be understood that the children's half-fare permits found in the hands of brokers during tests of the markets might also be held to be redesinable at full

GEORGE H. NETTLETON IS DYING He Has Had a Stroke of Apoplexy and

There Is No Hope. Kansas City, Mo., March 25.—(Special.)—George H. Nettleton, president and general manager of the Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis railway, is dying at his residence, 626 Penn street, in this city. There is absolutely no hope of his recovery. Dr. St. Clair Streett, who is attending Mr. Nettleton, says he is sink-ing gradually and cannot survive. Mr. Nettleton's family is prepared for the end at any time.

Two wheks ago Mr. Nettleton was stricken down with a stroke of apoplexy while preparing to go to his office. Physicians were summoned and he was put to bed, where he has since remained. He rallied somewhat during the first few days, but a week ago he had a second cerebral hemorrhage. All of last week he struggled on between life and death and his family had no hope of his recovery. Nearly four years ago Mr. Nettleton suffered a similar attack of apoplexy while in his bathroom. He remained in the coom all night and was found in an unconscious condition by one of the servants in the morning.

Mr. Nettleton was born at Chicapee Falls, Mass., November 13, 1831. He entered railway service at the age of twenty as a rodman on the New Haven and New London road. He was with the Terre Haute and Alton road for a year or so as assistant engineer. He was engineer for other roads and then served the Hannibal and St. Joe for a number of years in different capacities. For twelve years he was general superintendent of the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe. In January, 1887 he was elected president and general manager of the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham and he has been president ever since.

Compressed Air Locomotives. "The use of locomotives operated by com-

Both tanks are 31% inches, inside diameter, built up of 9-16 inch shell plates, the longitudinal seams sextuple riveted, with inside and outside welt strips, and the circumferential seams double riveted. The tank heads are of thirteen-sixteenth inch flanged steel, of dished shape, with manholes in the front heads. The working pressure in the tanks is 600 pounds per square inch, and this is reduced to 140 pounds in the auxiliary reservoir by means of an automatic pressure regulator. The "Cut Glass Wink."

A delightful, though informal dinner occurred at the palatial home of Vice Presi ent and General Manager Burt, of the Ohio railway at Parkersburg, W. Va., recently. Governor MacCorkle, of West Virginia, was the guest of honor. During the course of the dinner Governor McCorkle in his usual suave manner very agreeably surprised Mr Jack Burt, son of Vice President Burt, by offering a toast to the health and future greatness of Colonel Jack Burt, advising him of his appointment on the governor's staff with the rank of colonel. The governor said the commission had been drawn and executed the day before, and was en

The recommendation of the Illinois railroad and warehouse commission that laws be enacted preventing the issuance of franchises to unnecessary railroads, is based on the allegation that while more than nine hundred franchises for railroads have been granted in Illinois, there are today but 117 principal and subsidiary lines in operation in the state, nearly eight hundred of the companies having been organized apparently for speculative purposes. Under the Illinois law at present any number of persons, not less than five, can organize and incorporate a railroad company. Under their charter they can obtain a franchise and acquire vested rights.

HER ANSWER

Mrs. Young Charges Her Husband with Neglect and Desertion.

SHE MAKES MANY ALLEGATIONS

In Her Answer It Is Charged That He Drank to Excess and Wasted His Substance with Fast Women.

Mrs. Martha Jane Young has filed answers to the accusations which have been filed against her by her husband, Robert C. Young.

In the answers filed yesterday Mrs. Young denies many of the allegations brought against her, and she also brings charges of a sensational nature against her husband.

Mr. Young had asked that the court give him a total divorce from his wife. This peti-tion was filed several days ago. Only a short time ago another petition was place on record, alleging that while he was in a financial crisis his wife was given a her stead upon some of the property which he owned at that time, and he sues for the recovery of the amount of the hemestead or rather an interest in the am

In the petition for diverce Mr. Young alleges that his married life has been a great disappointment and that he has never been allowed any of the privileges which are usually enjoyed by a husband. He states that he never enjoyed life until he became a soldier in the war, and it was not until that time that he found any peace. The whistle of bullets and the roar of cannon were more pleasant to him than the voice of his wife.

Mrs. Young Files an Answer, In regard to the petition which her husband has filed for divorce Mrs. Young has some very spicy things to say. She de-nies many of the allegations, but grants that she denied her husband the usual privileges of a husband on account of his conduct. She alleges that his conduct was coarse, brutal and vulgar, and she could not act as a wife toward him and maintain her self-respect.

Continuing further Mrs. Young says that just after the war closed she and ner husband came to Atlanta to live, and by industry, energy and economy, practiced as much by ner as by her husband, they were enabled to accumulate considerable property. She says they lived in peace and happiness until lust and intemperance entered into their happy home. She charges her husband with becoming infatuated with a woman of questionable character and says he spent much of his time with this wo-man. He is charged with keeping this woman in one of his houses near his home, and after drinking heavily and spending a large portion of his time with this woman of low characater he would home in an intoxicated condition,

A Barroom Ruined Him. The petition charges that Mr. Young pened a barroom in the city and invested his money in the venture, which finally brought financial ruin and wreck.

Mrs. Young claims that he wo wasted the accumulations of a lifetime had she not taken out a homestead upon the property, which she had helped to obtain, In this manner she says she was able to provide for herself and her family. She also claims that several years ago her husband left her and his little ones in shame and anger and departed for Alaba ma. She says he returned about a yea ago and asked to live with her and tha she took him in and granted and allowed his interest in the homestead rights. Mrs. Young files a cross bill and asks from her husband. She charges crue treatment, claiming that he abused and cursed her and in every way neglected her and his family. Charges Neglect and Abandonment. In the petition it is alleged that he de serted her in 1877 and left her to support and care for seven little children. She has spent the best part of her life, she claim in caring for her children, and now that she is old and her life is drawing to a close she would never have sought a divorce from him had he not attacked her character as a wife and mother.

The answer is filed through her attorneys, Burton Smith and Shepard Bryan, She also asks for $25 per month alimony and the sum of $500 as counsel fees. She Arswers the Second Petition. The answer of Mrs. Young in regard to the petition in reference to the homestead allegations is quite lengthy.

She charges that her husband was drunk most of the time and ran her boarders because he cursed and swore in the

She says she kept up the payments on the homestead property, as he was never in a condition to attend to business.

Special Meeting of the Police Board May Be Held.

Nearly all of the bids for furnishing the ummer uniforms of the police have been eccived by Chief Connolly and await the action of the police commission. On account of the urgent necessity of an early decision in the matter in order that the men may be equipped by the date for changing uniforms, it is quite probable that a meeting of the board will be held in a day or two. Chief Connolly is still at work investigating the charges of maltreating a prisoner made against Detectives Conn and Me-haffey, for which they were indicted by Chief Connolly Issues an Order Instructing Detectives To Be So. Chief Connolly is determined that the utmost secreev must be preserved by his men. He says there is too much in-formation being given out about the secret work of the police department, and that success in many cases has undoubtedly been endangered by advancing information about the various cases and their proposed treatment. He has just issued a special order in which the officers of the force are stringently enjoined from giving any in-formation regarding any of the secret movements of their department.

"We have at Inman Park," said City Comptroller Goldsmith yesterday, "all the facilities that people who live in a block of racilities that people who live in a block of the depot have. We have lights, water, sewers, gas mains, the best of paving and the prettiest park around Atlanta. This park is maintained by the city, and is as pretty a spot as you can find anywhere. We have good neighbors."

And so they all talk. The closing out of this sale in Inman Park will round up the work conceived and planned several years ago to give Atlanta an ideal residence community. Planned, as was Inman Park, on elevated ground, it has been laid out into streets, parks, grass lawns and tasteful curves and has since been receiving the adornment of modern residences, each designed with an eve to its location and to meet the tastes of its owners.

B. F. Hooper Declines To Give Up the Possession of a Store.

APPEAL MADE TO THE COURTS

Mr. Peeples.

Receiver Morrison Claims That Hooper Broke Into the Property of

An interesting petition has been filed with the clerk of the superior court by D. Morrison, who is acting as the receiver of H. C. Peeples, under an order of the court. The petition sets forth several declaration in regard to the possession of a certain building which is claimed by Mr. Peeples as his individual property. It alleges that B. F. Hooper has entered the building by breaking the lock upon the door and has taken possession of the building.

Receiver Morrison claims that as an offi-cer of the court he has taken possession of the house on the corner of Richmond and Frazier streets and was endeavoring to rent the property. Several days ago he says a negro man called at his office and asked for the keys to the building, as he desired to see the interior of the house with a view to renting the place. The keys were the office for the purpose of making an examination of the premises. The next day he returned, but falled to bring with him the keys. He told the receiver that man by the name of Hooper had taken the keys away from him and had refused to give them up.

Hooper has since held the property and now has a stock of groceries in the building and will not give up the house to Receiver Morrison. The petition setting forth the facts has been filed and the case will be heard before Judge Lumpkin next Saturday morning in chambers. Until some ac-tion is taken by the courts Hooper will remain in possession Rooper Claims the Property.

The petition which has just been filed by Receiver Morrison is not the first legal action which has been the result of the purchase of the equity in the property by Mr. Peeples. Mr. Peeples claims that the bond for title was purchased by himself several months ago from B. F. Hooper, and immediately following the purchase of the property sev-eral petitions for injunction were filed by Hooper and his wife. These petitions were dismissed upon a hearing before Judge Lumpkin and Mr. Peeples was authorized to take possession of the property.

Shortly after this Mr. Peeples became financially involved and Mr. D. Morrison was appointed a receiver by the court. Under this order of the court Receiver Morrison took possession of the house and storeroom anjoining.

Receiver Morrison was presented with several additional petitions to restrain him from taking possession of the place, but these, too, were finally dismissed and Mor-rison proceeded to make some repairs of the place for the purpose of making it suita-

Mr. Morrison alleges that he sent a man around to the place and upon examination it was found that a stove and several pieces of property had been placed in the room. The collector bored a hole through the door facing and placed a chain and locked the loor with a padlock. This was Saturday. Monday morning Mr. Morrison was astonished to find that the lock and chain had been broken and that Hooper had moved in a stock of goods and was conducting a business in the house. Hoope was notified by Mr. Morrison to vacate, but he said that he did not intend to do anything about the matter, as it was his property. Then it was that the petition was filed and an order granted by Judge Lump-

SHE NEEDS HELP.

Mother of the Triplets Writes a Touching Letter Asking for Aid.

Governor Atkinson received yesterday a Mrs. Cassie Jackson, of 160 Walker street, who gave birth to triplets a short time ago, all of whom have since died, Mrs. Jackson states that herself and all her family are in destitute circumstances and she asks for aid.

Mrs. Jackson states in her letter that her house rent is due and that she is out of provisions. Her husband lost his mother recently and the expense of burying her and the triplets exhausted the little supply and the triplets exhausted the little supply of money possessed by the family. Her husband lost his position on account of sickness, Mrs. Jackson states, and he has been unable to secure another.

The governor turned the letter over to his son "J. P.," who circulated it through the capitol and secured donations from the officials, which were turned over to Mrs. Jackson. She thanked the governor and others for the assistance. The fact of the receipt of the letter and the action taken would not have been given out had not Mrs. Jackson stated that she needed more assistance and would be glad if the attention of the people was called to her condition. She is confined to her bed by illness now. It is a case for the charitable people of the city.

Mrs. Jackson's Letter.

Atlanta, Ga., March 24, 1896.—Governor Atkinson. Dear Sir: I will write you a few lines asking you if it is in your power to take up a little donation or help me a little, for I am in need very much. My house rent is due and I am out of provisions. I am the mother of the three little triplets. My husband lost his mother and we lost the three little ones and it took every cent we could rake up for burial expenses. My husband lost his job while sick and he cannot find another, although he has tried very hard.

"I was informed that if I would ask you for assistance I would get it. I have five little children now and am still confined to my bed. If you help me a little God will bless you for doing it.

Held a Man While He Was Murdered. Savannah, Ga., March 25.—(Special.)—Alfred Knight, who held Richard Muller last Christmas day while an unknown man in a mask cut him to death, was convicted of murder today and sentenced on recommendation to life imprisonment. WHOSE RIFLE IS IT?

GOV. ATKINSON RECEIVES A LET-TER ABOUT AN OLD RELIC.

Belonged to a Georgia Soldier-The Old Gun Was Found in a Forest in Wisconsin.

Governor Atkinson is in receipt of a etter from Chicago, telling of the finding of an old army rifle near Woodruff, Wis., which evidently belonged to a Georgia confederate soldier. The rifle bore the name of H. duBignon, engraved on the stock. The old rifle evidently has a history.

It was found leaning up against a tree in forest. Quite a number of human bones were found about the tree, apparently in-dicating that the owner of the gun perished at the spot, eaten by wolves, it is thought by the writer of the letter, Gar-wood Harris, of 34 and 36 Canal street, Chicago.

Mr. Harris writes the governor an interesting letter about the old gun. He describes the relic, stating that on the right hand side of the stock is engraved in silver the words, "Georgia to the rescue." On the left-hand side of the stock, engraved in silver, are the words, "Presented to H. duBignon by H. Floyd." Mr. Harris suggests that the relic would be of great value to the owner, and he asks the governor to place his letter on the right track to find the original owner, if living. Governor Atkinson accordingly handed the letter to The Constitution. It reads as follows: Mr. Harris's Letter.

Mr. Harris's Letter.

"Chicago, March 23, 1600.—To the Governor of the State of Georgia. Dear Sir. Recently an old rifle came into my possession. This gun certainly has a big history behind it. It was found leaning up against a tree about four miles north of Woodruff, Wis. Quite a number of human hones were scattered around the tree, indicating that the owner of the rifle had been ate up by the wolves. On the righthand of the stock is engraved in silver the words, 'Georgia to the rescue.' On the left side of the stock, engraved in silver, are these words: 'Presented to H. dubignon by H. Floyd.' I think, without doubt, that this gun belonged to some man in the army from your state, and likely was captured by one of our men. This rifle is, of course, of no practical value, but would be of great value as a relic to the right party, who, I presume, is H. dubignon. I write this letter to you, not knowing who else to direct it to, and trust you will put it on the right track to find the original owner if living. Respectfully, 'GARWOOD HARRIS.' "Late First Lleutenant Company A. Fifth Michigan Cavalry, of General Custer's Brigade."

THE BOARD MEETS TODAY.

Monthly Session of the Board of Education This Afternoon. Today is the day for the regular month

There is nothing of great importance as far as known to come up as the special committee on the reorganization of the high schools will not make their report Captain J. C. will ask for further time in which to make their report. Chairman Hendrix's plan for the Poys' and Girls' High schools is, he thinks, the best one that could be gotten up. He wants these schools conducted upon the departmental system.

The new school building to be erected on Crew street will mon be under course construction. W. W. McAfee & Co. have the contract for the building and it will cost $7,000.

At the last meeting of the board the old plan of making out monthly honor rolls was returned to and now averages are marked and honor rolls are made out monthly.

WARMER WITH CLOUDS.

The Temperature Will Be Higher Today Than Yesterday.

Yesterday was a comparatively dry day in all parts of the country. Except a trace at Chicago and Huron there was no precipitation reported whatever last evening. The morning weather map showed the entire west and northwest covered by a storm area, the center of which was located in the vicinity of Marquette, Mich. Dur-ing the day this storm area filled in and moved eastward, shifting its center to a moved eastward, shifting its center to a point near Chicago, while an anticionic area made its appearance to its west and rear over the Dakotas. An area of high pressure extended over the Atlantic and eastern gulf states. Except at points near the north Atlantic coast and in the extreme northwest the weather was quite warm. As far north as Chicago and Omaha the mercury at 7:40 °clock p. m. was registering 54 degrees—just the same as at Atlanta—while at New York city it was but a few degrees above the freezing point, and at Huron, S. D., 2 degrees below freezing.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction. With a better understanding of the

The Jury Gives Mrs. Roberts a Total Divorce from Her Husband.

MRS. HALL SUES FOR ALIMONY

Rapidly Moving Train. Mrs. Lula M. Roberts was granted a to-

Charlie Cargile, While Stealing a Ride,

Says He Was Thrown from a

al divorce yesterday morning in the superior court and was given the custody of her children and a regular monthly allowance of alimony.

Through her attorneys she sued for a divorce from her husband, W. H. Roberts, to whom she was married in the summer of 1887. In her petition she alleges that her husband began to drink soon after her marriage and in a short time he began to abuse her and neglect her. She charges him with making vile accusations against her and later on with abandoning her and her children. On account of his conduct toward her on account of his conduct toward her she says she left him. He made promises of better behavior and she returned only to be again disappointed, she says. He failed to provide properly for her and she was compelled to again leave him.

The jury was out but a short time and returned a verdict in her favor, granting her a total divorce and giving her the custody of her children. The jury allowed her alimony in the sum of $5 per month, provided the salary of Mr. Roberts reached $40 per month. If he made $50 per month she is to receive $10, and if he earns as much as $60 per month she is to receive the amount of $15 each month as her portion of the alimony.

The verdict provided that the father could visit his children at least once each week. The children were to be seen in private in the office of M. J. McCord, in Temple court, provided Mr. Roberts gives notice in writing thirty-six hours before hand that he wishes to see the children. When this notice is given the mother is ordered to produce the children. In case the monthly salary of Mr. Roberts is not as much as $40 he is not required to pay alimony to his wife.

Sues for Alimony.

Through her attorneys, Bishop, Andrews Hill, Mrs. Mary C. Hall has filed suit n the superior court for alimony against er husband, George Daniel Hall. Her petition shows that she marrie him about seven years ago and that three children have been born unto her as a re-sult of the union. She alleges that her husband abandoned her and the children more than two years ago and has not con tributed to her support. Since he left his family his wife claims that she has been ed to earn a support as best she could. She states that much of the time her children have been sick and needed medicine and money, but her husband re-fused to give anything for their support. The case has been set for a hearing efore Judge Lumpkin on April 4th and final action will be taken at that time.

Wants Damages from the Road. Charley Cargile has brought suit against the Western and Atlantic railroad for damages received on account of a ride which he took on the front end of a mail car platform.

He is a minor and his petition is brought through his next friend. Mitchell Cargile The boy alleges that he boarded the front platform of a mail car on the Western & Atlantic road near Cartersville and was riding without a ticket or the usual payment of fare. He was discovered, he claims, by the employes of the road about seven miles this side of Cartersville. He says the train was running thirty miles an hour and he would not attempt to ump off the car. When he was discovered by the brake-man he says he was picked up bodily and thrown from the car into a creek over which the train was running on a high trestle. The fall knocked him senseless and he says he remained in an unconcious condition until he was picked up by a negro man and carried about two lles back to the station. At the station a physician examined his wounds and it was seen that he was in a bad condition from his contact with the rocks in the bottom of the creek into which he was thrown.

Cargile claims that he was badly mashed and bruised and in addition to several permanent injuries his tongue was split and he has been confined to his room since the accident. Cargile is represented by Glenn & Rountree and the case will be heard at the May term.

There is a full carload of high steppers, just recently brought here from Lexington Ky., that is attracting considerable atten-Yesterday there was quite a crowd watch

Yesterday there was quite a crowd watching these handsome animals at Byrd L. Lewis' stables on Loyd street. They are, indeed, a fancy lot and consist of both saddle and harness horses.

A Constitution representative saw one of the favorites, a sorrell saddle horse, "Jim." marching in what is known as the park style and he won the admiration of all the crowd. But they all were pronounced beauties and a handsomer lot of Kentucky horses were never unloaded in Atlanta.

As stated in yesterday's paper, the case against J. L. White, a postal clerk, was dismissed in the United States court. The essential part of the case for the prosecution was the letter said to have been embezzled by White, and in sending out the letter they described it as addressed Secretary and Treasurer, Agnes Scott Institute. Decatur, Ga. When the letter was catur, Ga." The motion was made by Colonel W. C. Glenn, counsel for the defendant, to exclude the letter and the court, after hearing the argument on both sides, ex-cluded it. Hence there was nothing to go nothing else but direct a verdict of not guilty, because the government failed to make out its case as alleged in the indictment.

In Uncle Sam's Employ. In Uncle Sam's Employ.

Mr. R. B. Spink, the son of 'Squire J. W. Spink, left Tuesday for Oregon, where he goes to fill a position in the government service. Mr. Spink was raised here in Fulton county and is a progressive, energetic and honorable young man. His father is one of the most upright and highly respected clitizens of Fulton county. He has lived at Bolton, near the Chattahoochee river, for many years and has the confidence and esteem of all who know him. The appointment of his son, Mr. R. B. Spink, will take the young man away from the state for a year or so, but his efficiency is so well established that it goes without saying that he will make a record which will give pleasure to his friends as well as to those of his father.

WON'T COLLECT TAXES.

THE DARIEN AND WESTERN SE-CURES A SUSPENSION ORDER.

Suspending the Collection of the Taxes on the Road.

Governor Atkinson has ordered a sus-pension of the payment of the taxes on a portion of the Darien and Western Railroad Company. The company claims that the tax is too much and it will contest the matter in the legislature. In the county of McIntosh the commissioners authorized a readjustment of the dissessment of the taxes in that county and a reduction of $28,000 was agreed upon. The amount deducted left $44,049.59 worth of property to be taxed and the governor orders that upon the payment of the principal, interest and cost due on-that amount the collection of the balance be suspended until the meeting of the next general asembly.

The official order is as follows:
"State of Georgia, Executive Office, Atlanta, Ga., March 24, 1896.—Whereas, the comptroller general has issued a fi. fa. against the Darien and Western Railroad Company for the sum of $528.54, besides interest and costs, for state taxes for the year 1896, upon an assessment of its property at $72,049.58, and placed the same in the hands of the attorney general for collection; and "Whereas. It has been made to appear official order is as follows:

Whereas, It has been made to appear "Whereas, It has been made to appear to me by said company that it desires to petition the legislature for the passage of a resolution, authorizing a readjustment of its assessment for taxes for 1895, and that upon a similar petition the board of county commissioners of McIntosh county authorized a readjustment of said assessment so far as the same applied to county taxes, which readjustment resulted in a reduction of $2000:

ment so far as the same applied to county taxes, which readjustment resulted in a reduction of $28,000;
"It is, therefore, ordered, That upon the payment of the principal, interest and costs due on $44,09.58 that the collection of the balance due on said fi. fa. be suspended until the meeting of the next general assembly.

HELLO! HELLO!

MR. GENTRY TALKS ABOUT TELE-PHONE METHODS.

Discusses the Opposition to His Company and Gives Some Interesting Facts.

Mr. Gentry, the assistant superintendent of the Southern Bell Telephone Company, was asked what he had to say in regard to the opposition enterprise. He replied substantially as follows:

"It is obvious that I feel some delicacy about saying anything. Whatever I might say is liable to be distorted and to be ascribed to selfish motives. However, there are one or two points to which it may not be amiss to direct the attention of the public. Probably no Atlanta capitalist needs to be cautioned to make proper investigation with reference to investment in a business with which in the nature of in a business with which in the hatture of things he must be unfamiliar. It was naturally to be expected that upon the expiration of certain patents (and, by the way, all telephone patents have not expired, and the possibility of patent hitigation is still an element to be taken into consideration, telephone enterprises should be promoted by speculators and by manufacturers of infringing felephones and apparatus. One feature of getting up opposition telephone exchanges consists of misstatements of expenses made from lack of actual experience and always far under the real cost of doing the business. Every business man knows how easy it is to make up such a set of figures, and knows how apt the actualities are to differ from the estimates. These enterprises so far have not proven satisfactory, and not one of them has yet reached 800 subscribers in any city. Some opposition exchanges are referred to which do not exist. There is, for instance, no opposition exchange in operation in Detroit, Mich.

"We are practically a home institution; we own valuable real estate and have a fine building Our entire force, with perhaps one or two exceptions, are native southern men. Our business here now supports about five hundred residents of Atlanta. We pay out for apparatus to one manufacturing concern in Atlanta about 550 a month, besides paying to other houses large bills for hardware, printing and stationery, and other supplies. "The telephone business is an evolution, a science, involving complications and requiring to be thoroughly learned in order to give satisfactory service. give satisfactory service. A little tour through our building will demonstrate this.
"We have been years developing the system and we are backed by a parent company which devotes a large amount of money to the maintenance of an engineering force comprising the best talent and skill and experience, with all the facilities of the most extensive and expensive laboratories and shops for experimenting and manufacturing.
"I wish you could go through the establishments referred to, which are located in Boston, New York and Chicago. It would be a revelation to you of what is involved in the telephone business. We have plans now outlined for additions and improvements to our system in Atlanta and in our district, comprising the states of South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Florida, which will require a year or two for execution and will involve an expenditure of probably more money than a layman would suppose sufficient for the construction of an entire opposition plant in Atlanta.
"All this is in the interest of the customer. Atlanta has long since ceased to be a little country town, and it getting farther away from that classification every day. What the people want here is not a cheap and consequently inferior service, but the very best that can be had. We are constantly spending money to give it to them; to "keep up with the progress of the art."

very best that can be had. We are constantly spending money to give it to them; to "keep up with the progress of the art;" to do our part in making Atlanta a cosmopolitan city. Our business must be carried on in such a manner as to accomplish this end. Our employes must be competent and must be paid such salaries as to command such a class, and we must be free from the necessity of cheese-paring economies in other directions.

"I am talking longer than I intended, but I must make one reference to our long-line facilities. The connections established last year with distant points—Columbus, Rome, Athens, etc.—are well known. We shall have a very interesting combination of additions to this system to announce in a short time.

"We have not the slighest intention in the world of retiring from business. We expect our friends to stand by us and we will stand by them.

"I may mention in closing that our company has paid but two dividends in two years, those two aggregating 2½ per cent."
